Chamber picks new executive

By DAVE WHALEY
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — R.C. Bush of Fulton, Mo., will be the new executive vice president of the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce. Bush, 35, hopes to be in the office next Monday, according to Dave Schermer, president of the chamber.

BUSH HAS BEEN the executive director of the Kingdom of Callaway Chamber of Commerce in Callaway County, Mo., since January 1983. He previously served as the industrial and economic development coordinator for the Carroll County (Ill.) Development Corporation.

Bush was selected after an interview by the chamber's executive board Aug. 6. Schermer said an agreement was made with Bush over last weekend.

"He's been in town looking for housing since then, and we hope he can be in the office next week," Schermer said Tuesday.

JAMES PENNEKAMP, the previous executive vice president, left July 19 to become president of the Greater Alton/Twin Rivers Growth Association. Since then, the chamber has been seeking a new executive.

Schermer said advertising was done in two "waves," in St. Louis papers and the local papers. A deadline of Aug. 15 (today) was originally set for receiving applications.

"When we interviewed Mr. Bush last week, we were fairly sure he was the man we wanted," Schermer said. "We got a really good response to the ads, about 25 applications. Of course, many of those just didn't have the qualifications we needed.

"YOU HAVE TO REALIZE we're a little different than the average chamber of commerce. We're a little more involved with economic development than some of the others. We needed someone with a strong background there. We didn't want somebody who just walked around patting everybody on the back telling them how great they are."

Schermer said there were a handful of other applicants the board was interested in, but said he felt Bush was the clear choice.

Bush is a graduate of the Industrial/Economic Developers Institute at the University of Oklahoma, with additional courses in industrial development and community planning at the University of Illinois.

WHILE BUSH WAS IN Carroll County, development projects there included seven new industrial locations worth over $65 million, creating close to 600 jobs. Four expansions to existing businesses covered 190,000 square feet and created 370 jobs.

Bush has also worked as a retail store manager, an insurance salesman for Prudential Insurance Co. and an automobile dealership owner.

He is a member of the American Economic Development Council, the Mid-America Development Council, the Illinois Development Council, the Southern Industrial Development Council, the Missouri Industrial Development Council, the Chamber of Commerce Executives of Missouri and the American Chamber of Commerce Executives.

Schedules slated for area's schools

By DONNA KIMBRO
Staff writer

Students attending public and parochial schools in the Quad-City area will soon be preparing for the opening day of the 1985-86 school year.

The Venice, Madison and Granite City school districts will hold teacher institute sessions on Monday, Aug. 26, with a half-day session for students following on Tuesday, Aug. 27. Full-day classes will start Wednesday, Aug. 28.

CLASSES WILL START Aug. 23 at Metro East Lutheran High School, Aug. 26 at Sacred Heart-St. Joseph, Aug. 27 at St. Elizabeth, St. Margaret Mary, St. Mary-St. Mark and Colonial Christian Academy Sept. 3 at Gateway Christian Academy and Sept. 4 at Central Baptist Christian Academy.

Students enrolled in the Venice High School will have classes Aug. 27 from 8:20 a.m. to noon. The following day, Aug. 28, the all-day schedule will begin.

VENICE High School will operate from 8 a.m. to 3:05 p.m. and Venice Grade School from 8:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. during the 1985-86 school year.

MADISON PUPILS attending for a half-day Aug. 27 will report to Madison High School from 8 to 11 a.m., Madison Middle School from 8:30 to 11:30 a.m., and elementary schools from 8:40 to 11:40 a.m.

Regular Madison schedules will follow on Aug. 28, with high school students attending from 8 a.m. to 2:30 p.m., middle school pupils 8:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. and grade school youngsters from 8:30 a.m. to 3:10 p.m.

Granite City schools will follow a half-day schedule on Aug. 27, when the high school will be in session from 8 a.m. to 1 p.m.; Coolidge Junior High School from 8 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.; Grigsby Junior High School, 8:20 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.; and elementary schools, 8:30 a.m. to noon.

BEGINNING AUG. 28, students enrolled at GCHS and Coolidge will be on a regular schedule of 8 a.m. to 3:10 p.m. Grigsby students will attend from 8:20 a.m. to 3:35 p.m. and elementary students will report at 8:30 a.m. and be dismissed at 2:45 p.m. each day.

Area parochial schools have varied school opening plans.

St. Mary-St. Mark Catholic School for Madison and Venice students will conduct a half-day session from 8 a.m. to noon Aug. 27, 28, 29 and 30. Full-day sessions, 8 a.m. to 3:30 p.m., are to start on Tuesday, Sept. 3.

SACRED HEART-St. Joseph Catholic School will be in session on Aug. 26 from 8:30 a.m. to 10 a.m. The next day, Aug. 27, it will begin a full

Court costs double seat belt ticket fee

By VALERIE EVENDEN
Staff writer

The cost is $50 for not wearing a seat belt in Illinois, not $25.

The misconception was blown away this week for some area law enforcement officials and residents when they learned court fees bring the ticket's cost to $50.

SO FAR in the Quad-City Area, the problem is not great. Few tickets have been issued for not wearing the belts, except in Venice, where 10 tickets were issued for the violation between Aug. 7 and Aug. 13.

The tickets were given in conjunction with other traffic citations, said Venice Patrolman Daniel McKinney.

State police are also issuing seat belt tickets only in conjunction with other traffic tickets, said Sgt. William J. Wylder.

IN JULY, the Illinois State Police issued 4,986 warnings statewide to drivers without seat belts. Failure to heed warnings resulted in four tickets statewide in July.

Neither Granite City nor Madison police departments has records available on issuance of tickets under the new seat-belt measure.

Citations for not wearing seat belts will be issued in Madison if the driver gets in an accident or is arrested on another traffic charge, said Sgt. Charles Bridick.

A CHECK with the Third Circuit Court in Granite City clarified the issue.

"A violation of this section shall be a petty offense and subject to a fine not to exceed $25," according to the Mandatory Seat Belt Law. However, court costs are another $25, bringing the total to $50.

THE $50 CHARGE breaks down as follows: $10, clerk fees; $5 each, court fees and Illinois Driver Education Fund; $4, traffic and criminal conviction surcharges; and $3, Violent Crimes Fund.

Those receiving seat belt tickets, if eligible, can give a "written promise to pay" and mail in the fine. A $50 bond might also be posted.

The 10 drivers cited by the Venice Police Department for speeding and failure to comply with the seat belt law were ticketed while traveling in the westbound lanes of Broadway at McKinney Avenue, located at the foot of the Broadway viaduct.

THREE OF the motorists were from Madison and three from St. Ann, Mo., and one each was from Granite City and Omaha.

There were six men and four women among those cited. A St. Louis man also was charged with not having a valid registration on his vehicle and not having a valid driver's license, in addition to the seat belt and speeding violations.

All must appear in the Granite City court on either Sept. 6 or Sept. 13, the tickets noted.

Nameoki is seeking insurance coverage

By SUSANNE INDELICATO
Staff writer

NAMEOKI — Nameoki Township has joined the growing number of municipalities facing problems in obtaining liability insurance.

The township's insurance will not be renewed by Chicago Insurance Co. when the policy expires in October, Jim Henderson of Luaders Agency informed the board by letter Monday.

"THE INSURANCE situation for municipal liability coverage is serious, and the availability for continuous coverage is questionable," Henderson's letter said. He said he has applied for coverage with several other insurance companies.

"This is happening all over the state, especially in Madison and St. Clair counties," Township Supervisor Harry Briggs told the town board. "It's going to be difficult, but I think we'll be able to secure some (insurance)."

ONE OPTION township officials may consider, Briggs said, is a proposal from Burnham and Flower of Illinois Inc.

That company wrote the township last month, offering an insurance package to Nameoki Township as a member of the Township Officials of

Sr. citizens to get discount cards

The secretary of state will issue Senior Citizen Discount Cards and compile and distribute senior discount directories statewide, in line with a law signed Aug. 9.

"There are a growing number of businesses all across Illinois that reward senior citizens with breaks on the cost of the goods and services they offer. While the price breaks help older persons stretch their budgets, they also make good sense for businesses, generating good will and product loyalty among older people," Gov. James R. Thompson said.

"But the discounts won't help senior citizens if they don't know what they are or where they are offered."

"By placing this popular program on the statutes under the auspices of the secretary of state, Illinois will ensure the availability of this valuable information," he said.

Effective Jan. 1, 1986, the secretary of state's office will collect information for publication and distribution in senior citizen directories, listing services and products available to older persons in Illinois at a discount.

He also will be responsible for issuing senior citizen cards free of charge to applicants 60 years of age or older who wish to participate in the discount program. Card holders will be entitled to the benefits listed in the directories.

Rep. Ron Stephens of Caseyville was one of the six sponsors.

The governor added, "Another initiative that will help seniors is the new Housing Facilities for the Elderly in Illinois directory."

"This comprehensive, county-by-county listing of subsidized housing for senior citizens will be available in legislative offices, area agencies on aging, senior citizen centers and other central access points for seniors."

Thompson also has approved $400,000 in one-time grants for equipment and transportation costs for Meals on Wheels, a federal program which aids home delivery of meals to senior citizens.

The state budget grants a $100,000 increase, from $200,000 to $300,000, for the Retired Citizens Volunteer Program, and $75,000 for the Foster Grandparents Program, which sets up a partnership between special needs children and volunteer senior citizens.

Music students earn top awards

Nine students of National School of Music attended the 29th annual music festival at the Marriott Hotel in Des Moines, Iowa, and all received superior or excellent ratings, performing on piano, organ and guitar.

The festival is for students of all ages and classes. Students must prepare two solo pieces and be able to play them by memory. They are judged on interpretation of dynamics, tempo, rhythm, phrasing, memory, precision, posture and performance.

This year, new events were added, including an adult hobbiest class for adults who want to participate in the festival without the more detailed requirements of the test list and memorization.

Another new event was the Showcase of Talent, where a student or group of students could perform strictly for entertainment.

The 1986 festival will be conducted at University Plaza, Springfield, Mo., July 25-27.

Participants from the National School of Music were Melissa Murray, Carl McCallister, Shelly Senecyn, Elizabeth Sabo, Tad Roach, Carla Shehorn, Jennifer Lindsay, Christi Castile, Jeff Held and Cyndi Brown, a teacher. Teachers not making the trip were Jennifer and Joe Bolt, Susan Beasley, Carolyn Belling, Burel Schmisser and Karen Tucker.

Park group will go to Silver Dollar City

The Granite City Park District will be sponsoring a trip to Silver Dollar City and the Branson, Mo., area Sept. 27-29.

The bus will leave the Wilson Park Ice Rink parking lot at 8 a.m. that Friday and return at 6 p.m. on Sunday.

The cost of the trip will vary according to the number occupying rooms at the Edgewood Motel on Highway 76 west of Branson. The entire amount of the trip must be paid at the time reservations are made. Each person can reserve only one room.

The rooms can accommodate from one to four persons. Proof of residence must be presented for each person and nonresidents will be placed on a waiting list.

Included in the price of the trip will be bus fare, motel lodging, tickets for two country/western shows and admission to Silver Dollar City. Also included in the cost are a wine and cheese reception at the motel upon arrival and a free continental breakfast each morning.

Additional side trips may be taken and admission will be paid at that time. Total costs are $122.95 for a single, $93.95 each for two to a room, $83.95 each for three to a room and $78.45 each for four to a room.

There will be a breakfast stop on the way down, at St. James, Mo. An additional stop will be made in Springfield, Mo., before journeying to Branson.

Friday evening's entertainment will be the Brachler Brothers Show. All day Saturday will be spent at Silver Dollar City, where the National Crafts Festival will be in session. That evening will be spent at the Lowe's Family Country Music Show that features the famous "Sons of the Pioneers" musical group.

Sunday morning, the group will stop at the Wilderness Clock Shop in Reed Springs, Mo., before heading to Springfield for lunch at the Pizzardi Cafeteria. One of the stops on the way home will be at a winery in St. James.

Reservations will be received starting on Tuesday, Aug. 20, at 9 a.m. at the Wilson Park office.

Utility regulators praised by critics

By DENNIS McMURRAY
The Citizens Utility Board (CUB) and the Governor's Office of Consumer Services don't usually have much good to say about what the Illinois Commerce Commission does, particularly on rate hike cases.

Both had praise Aug. 7, however, for the two actions taken by the ICC related to Illinois Power Company and its financial abatement, the Clinton nuclear power plant.

WHAT MOST PLEASED CUB and GOCS was that the ICC had for the first time taken specific steps to tie consumer rate hikes for the cost of Clinton to incentives and completion milestones rather than continuing to accept seemingly endless cost overruns and delays.

First, the ICC finally decided to call IP's bluff and hold it to its last "official" cost estimate for Clinton of $3.15 billion (of which two rural electric cooperatives have an ownership liability of $450 million).

Since a top IP executive has already said Clinton is at least $135 million over that figure now, it could mean IP stockholders, rather than ratepayers, will have to "eat" further Clinton cost overruns.

A WILD CARD factor is if IP goes into court and successfully challenges the ICC's legal authority to impose such a "cap" on the firm's return on its investment.

The commissioners seem to mean business with the cap.

Some of the bluntest criticism of utility management heard in an official ICC meeting was aired by them.

One commissioner even said his initial thought was to call "for the head" of Illinois Power's president.

ICC MEMBERS also made clear they aren't mutely buying IP's buck-passing anymore in which the utility tends to blame the federal Nuclear Regulatory Commission for every time delay and cost increase.

Quipped ICC Chairman Philip O'Connor: "As Michael Corleone's wife in the film 'The Godfather' said, someday this all has to come to an end."

The second step taken by the ICC was to deny an immediate rate hike of $139 million or an overall 19 percent sought by IP and instead adopt the unique approach of approving a two-phase rate hike triggered by the performance milestones of (1) Nuclear Regulatory Commission approval of fuel loading at Clinton and (2) NRC full power licensing of Clinton.

DUI ARREST AFTER CRASH

A crash involving the parked car of Ray Riddle, 1001 Greenwood St., Madison, and the auto of Eddie Peridore, 30, of 3801 Lake Drive, Lot 145, Pontoon Beach, resulted in the arrest of Peridore Aug. 12 for driving while under the influence of alcohol.

Excavation completed for Venice water slide

By VALERIE EVENEDEN
Staff writer

Demolition and excavation for the Lee Park water slide are finished and the second phase is about to begin.

Installation of plumbing for the $200,000 water slide project will start Monday, Aug. 19, the Rev. John Henry Williams, president of the Venice Park Board, informed board members at Tuesday night's meeting.

EXCAVATION WORK already completed includes a four-foot-deep catch pool to be located at the base of the slide.

The pool area is more than 20 feet across, according to Arnold Johnson, Venice Park District manager.

The park fountain and a fish pond were demolished prior to digging the catch pool area, Johnson said.

Concrete will be poured to form the pool and also footings on which to erect the slide after the plumbing work is finished.

NO OPENING DATE was projected for the water slide, which may be completed this month, pending approval of insurance packages, Johnson said. Proposals are being sought from three companies, he added.

The water slide, catch pool and bathhouse are being constructed through a $200,000 bond issue which was approved by voters April 12, 1983.

The general contractor is Poettker Construction Co. of Breese and the slide was purchased from Rainbow Water Slide Co. of Peoria.

EIGHTY VENICE youngsters and eight adults will travel by chartered bus today to the St. Louis Cardinals.

Pittsburgh Pirates game at Busch Stadium, scheduled at 1:30 p.m.

The baseball trip is part of the park district's summer recreation program.

Approval was granted Co-ordinated Youth Services to operate an Alternative School site at the Venice Recreation Center starting the week of Aug. 27.

The CYS program, primarily geared to high school students unable to attend regular classes, will run in conjunction with the 1985-86 public school year.

PERMISSION was given to advertise to sell a 36-inch "brush hog," a plow and disk machine and a 250-gallon fuel tank.

All are owned by the district.

DRIVER FACES DUI, WRONG WAY, LICENSE CHARGES

Julie A. Bradley-Johnson, whose address was listed on Rural Route 1, Granite City, and in Troy, Ill., was charged Aug. 10 with driving while under the influence of alcohol, driving south on northbound Edison Avenue, and failing to have a valid driver's license.

An officer alleged seeing the auto weave from side to side and nearly strike several parked vehicles. The car was halted after allegedly hitting a pickup truck belonging to Michael D. Davis, 2013 Illinois Ave. The truck was parked on the west side of the 2500 block of Edison.

BURGULAR OBTAINS CASH

A burglar broke into Paul's Repair Shop, 1818 State St., and stole money from a cash box, George Mathis reported Aug. 9.

IP CURRENTLY says it will achieve those milestones in January and July 1986, respectively, but given the history of the Clinton project, consumer groups and some ICC commissioners said they expect further delays.

The nature of the rate order does certainly give IP an incentive to meet the schedule.

Despite the praise of consumer groups for the policy approach taken by the ICC in this rate case, the bottom line for IP residential customers is likely to cause some delayed cries of outrage when the milestones are eventually reached and higher bills arrive.

IN NET NEW DOLLARS, the ICC gave IP what it wanted in new revenues — it just delayed them tied to the milestones.

IP had sought $139 million in additional annual revenues. That's what it will get after the two milestones are met.

The ICC also decided to redesign residential rates to hike changes in the summer and reduce them in the winter, as well as increasing the flat monthly "facilities" charge imposed before the per kilowatt-hour energy fee is assessed.

THE RESULT is that after the two Clinton milestones have kicked in the change in rates, the typical "small" residential customer (such as an apartment dweller) will have an annual increase of about 32.6 percent or $98 a year.

That customer uses 400 kilowatt hours a month in the four "summer" months and 300 kilowatt hours on average during each of the eight "winter" months.

The $300 annual bill such a customer pays now will go up to $358 when the first Clinton milestone is reached (a 17.8 percent hike) and to $398 when the second milestone is reached, according to figures supplied by the ICC.

Currently, IP residential customers using less than 400 kwh a month pay lower facilities and energy unit charges, a favored status the ICC says does not reflect the cost of providing service to them.

FOR A LARGER GROUP of residential customers, typically homeowners, the average usage is 1,100 kilowatt hours in summer and 700 kwh in winter.

That IP customer now pays $710 a year, which would increase to $754 at the fuel load milestone and $833 at the full power licensing milestone, or a total of 17.3 percent increase for both steps.

O'Connor contended the delayed rate hikes will still just about parallel the rate of inflation since IP's last rate increase in 1983. That assumes the utility would not get another one until at least 1987, the earliest the ICC expects Clinton to qualify as an "in-service" plant and pass more costs on to customers.

THE DEGREE to which the construction costs of a power plant should be passed on to ratepayers before the plant actually is producing electricity (called "Construction Work in Progress or CWIP") has been one of the most controversial issues in utility regulation in Illinois.

In its rate order, the ICC actually ended up including more of Clinton costs in the rate base than IP had requested. In the last three IP rate cases, the ICC authorized a total of $625 million in Clinton costs be passed on to customers.

The new rate order adds another $174 million immediately, $372 million more at the fuel load milestone, and $383 million at full power licensing.

THAT'S A TOTAL of $909 million. IP had requested $682 million more in construction costs added to its rate base.

Even ICC commissioners who have been skeptical of the use of CWIP defended it this week.

Instead of being used this time to improve the utility's financial situation, it was designed to minimize rate impact on customers it and when Clinton finally does come on line, they said.

The basic reason is that by adding more of the Clinton cost in the rate base now it reduces interest carrying charges IP accumulates for the future.

COMMISSIONER Stanford Levin of Edwardsville, who was credited by O'Connor with primarily being responsible for crafting the two-step phase-in tied to the Clinton milestones, said he believes future IP rate increases will be "moderate."

Both residential and industrial consumers shouldn't be so distressed over Clinton anymore, he added.

Climate is not just the weather

Whether Southwestern Illinois was a close contender in past auto plant site selections, and whether it is in the running for proposed Toyota and Mitsubishi-Chrysler plants, remains unclear. But a new study by the Heartland Research Institute does make it clear that the climate affecting such decisions involves a lot more than the weather.

Citizens and officials here should heed the study's conclusion that "from an economic perspective, things do not seem to be going well in the Midwest. The number of jobs is growing significantly more slowly in the Great Lakes region than in any other area of the U.S."

"Growth of non-farm jobs from 1975 to 1982 has been smallest in the East North Central states of Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Michigan and Wisconsin. At just 0.5 percent per year, the growth in jobs is less than a quarter of the national average of 2.1 percent. For Illinois, the picture is even worse: jobs grow at a rate of 0.4 percent yearly."

The study's author, James L. Johnston, says, "Why are most new investments and the jobs they create locating outside this region? By identifying policies that tend to deter investment, an agenda is suggested for improving the business climate in Illinois and the other Great Lakes states."

He finds that three government-controlled factors are primarily responsible for the growing tendency of new and expanding businesses to locate outside

Illinois:

1. Illinois' unitary corporate income tax, by requiring companies to include out-of-state subsidiaries in their tax base, discourages businesses that are successful elsewhere from moving into Illinois.

2. High unemployment insurance and workers' compensation rates contribute to the region's high unemployment and low job creation rates.

3. Sales and property taxes are relatively high in Illinois.

Two other highlights of the report:

"—When a state adopts combined apportionment it cannot be said that tax revenues will, on balance, increase. It is more likely a state will see a decline in revenues, especially in the short run. Those firms getting a reduction in their taxes file immediately for their refunds. On the other hand, firms getting an increase in their taxes appeal. The net effect is a drain on state tax revenue, as is happening in Illinois."

A state without any corporate income tax at all will, of course, compete even more successfully for new investment than states with low rates or those using the value-added approach. There are five states without a corporate income tax, the most important of which is Texas. It must be assumed that Texas will continue to be active in trying to bid investment away from the Great Lakes region."

Example in area of life's value

The value of a human life is illustrated by Arthur W. Toga, Ph.D., director of the Laboratory of Neuro Imaging (LONI) at Washington University's School of Medicine in St. Louis. One of the airline passengers held hostage in Lebanon this year, he could have been killed by the terrorists but has returned home, as did all but one of the planeload of Americans.

There is no way to predict what Toga will be able to do for mankind, but a three-year, $150,000 grant newly received from the Whitaker Foundation gives an indication of what he is attempting.

Brain function is his area of research. Toga plans to visualize changes in brain activity, measuring their relationships to changes in behavior. To do so, he will use autoradiograms, "pictures" of brain metabolism made with X-ray film.

He will analyze the autoradiograms through digital image processing, the use of the computer-based analysis for which LONI was established in 1984. Digital image processing allows scientists to interpret visual data by transforming them into numbers, which can then be translated into clearer images for further study.

Not only is this kind of project of great potential benefit, but his laboratory also assists research in other departments at the School of Medicine.

LONI has technology similar to that of NASA (National Aeronautics and Space Administration), whose computers enhance satellite pictures of the earth's surface. A scanner digitizes light transmitted through or reflected from varied images. The digital data can be stored, manipulated or projected as two- or three-dimensional images.

Also, LONI can provide easily-read, color-coded images, and composite images for measuring changes over time.

Dr. Toga is an exceptional person, as attested by his work since 1978 in neurology, neuroscience, computer graphics and computer science. He has published articles and abstracts on his research, aiding in the advancement of science generally.

But there are billions of other people; he is only one. Our view of the individuals can and do contribute to world betterment in many ways, including some that could not be foreseen, when they were young, or even middle-aged. In Lebanon, and everywhere else, the reality and the potential of each life deserve utmost respect from all other human beings.

Tax reform mail changing direction

WASHINGTON — If congressional mail is an indicator, President Reagan faces a tough task of convincing the public that swapping their favorite tax breaks for reduced rates is a good deal.

Mail received by Illinois senators and representatives shows a clear and dramatic turnabout as the public attention turned from the broad concept of tax reform to how it will affect them individually.

When Mr. Reagan uncorked his plan in late May, members of the Illinois congressional delegation received an overwhelmingly favorable but smaller than expected mail response. The dominant message to the lawmakers in the early mail was to support the plan and resist the temptations to cave in to the special interests.

But that changed over two months as attention focused on specific elements of the proposals and lobbyists put their operations into gear. The prevailing message now is "tax reform is great, but don't tax my employer-provided benefits," according to an aide to Sen. Alan Dixon, D-Ill.

Dixon has received about 140,000 letters and post cards on tax reform, and about 90,000 were from people objecting to taxing inurance coverage, according to Joe Clayton, who handles Dixon's tax mail. Most of the objections were on pre-addressed form postcards sent to constituents by the insurance industry for forwarding to the lawmakers, he said.

Other big objections were to taxing profit-sharing, pension and credit union plans, he said. Clayton said Dixon now is receiving very few letters from people urging him to support the Reagan proposal without attaching some kind of exception. Dixon's experience is by no means unique in the delegation.

This is no time to cut Vietnam veterans' aid

To the Editor:

Earlier this year this country observed the 10th anniversary of the official end of the Vietnam War.

That war, which claimed the lives of 58,000 U.S. servicemen and women, left a searing scar on this country and many of the veterans who fought in Vietnam. No war in our history, other than the American Civil War, so divided this country.

For many veterans of the war in Vietnam, the battles continue. Ten long years after the last American troops pulled out of Saigon, we still see veterans who are having difficulty coming to grips with their lives.

For the past two years the American Legion and Columbia University have been conducting a study of Vietnam veterans to see how their military experience affected them.

Legionnaires were asked to complete questionnaires to help us determine their general state of happiness, how they adjusted to the military, and their general health.

More than 6,800 veterans responded to the call for the study. Of that group, 40 percent saw duty in Southeast Asia.

Much of what we found is not surprising. Veterans in the study group, as with the general population, with higher educations earned more, whether combat veterans or not.

Direct measures of general happiness and satisfaction and reports of general health are significantly worse for men who served under heavy combat conditions.

Other results are disturbing and instructive. When age and education are taken into account, exposure to intense combat has a major independent effect on family income.

Drs. Jeanne and Steven Stellman, the project's directors, estimate that among men born between 1944 and 1949 (the age group which experienced the highest combat levels) the middle annual income of combat veterans appears to be $3,000 to $4,000 less than for men of that age group who did not experience intense combat.

And, exposure to combat has affected marital status. The divorce rate for veterans with intense combat is significantly higher than for other veterans who served either under different conditions in Southeast Asia or served elsewhere.

The Stellmans conclude in this first report that there is a "clear and consistent adverse social effect of exposure to traumatic situations (combat) among members of the study population."

Even for veterans the divorce rate goes up with increased combat experience, as family incomes and the levels of general happiness and satisfaction decline.

These veterans of intense combat "appear to be literally paying a financial cost, as well as emotional one, for their combat experiences," the report says. "These men clearly bore the brunt of the war and its aftermath."

This study reinforces the view of the American Legion that America's veterans cannot be ignored.

The dedication of the Vietnam Veterans Memorial may have healed some wounds, but others are continuing to fester, and that affects us all.

In the months ahead, the remaining portions of the study will be released. Among other topics to be covered will be the effects of Post Traumatic Stress Disorder and health problems which might have been caused by exposure to Agent Orange or other substances.

Is it time to put the war behind us?

We do not wish to continue to fight those battles, but we must remember, as we have done after other wars, that the real battles start when veterans return home and fight to readjust to the society they tried to defend.

Now is not the time to limit the scope of federal help to these veterans.

Even after ten years (and more for most veterans) they are trying to catch up with the rest of us.

They are good, solid citizens who wish to contribute and earn a part of the American dream. It is up to us to continue to help them.

Mandatory retirement

These people were asked Wednesday if a maximum or retirement age should be set for political officeholders and, if so, what age it should be. Their comments follow.

Joy Lane, Granite City

"No. If they are physically and mentally able to do the job, you shouldn't hold their age against them."

Jerry Nelson, Granite City

"No, I don't believe so. Everybody has the right to work, regardless of age."

Norma Smith, Granite City

"It all depends on the health of the person and their mental acuity. Maybe they (officeholders) should be tested for their physical and mental acuity, but it probably would be hard to do in a fair way."

Randy Odom, Granite City

"There should be a retirement age. When they get to a certain age they should come out, just like workers. Sixty-two would be more than sufficient. After 62, they should enjoy their lives without the hassles of their office and work."

Tennessee makes self attractive to industry

To the Editor:

The selection of a small town in Tennessee as the site of General Motors' proposed $3.5 billion Saturn plant must have come as a surprise to many people, but it shouldn't have.

A close reading of the Alexander Grant Co.'s sixth annual study on the general manufacturing climate for the 48 contiguous states, which was issued in June 1985, would have provided convincing statistics that a state like Tennessee was an odds-on favorite to get the nod.

In the other hand, never had a chance. Despite some critics, who have been charging all along that the Grant study is flawed because it does not include such aesthetic things as the view from Lake Michigan, seasoned professionals in business and industry have known that economic factors are what matter in business decisions, not ethereal considerations.

In other words, it's the bottom line that counts, not the skyline.

A study of the Grant report findings for Illinois and Tennessee supports this contention. Tennessee has a "right to work" law; Illinois does not. As regards having a favorable manufacturing climate, Illinois was ranked 42nd among the 48 contiguous states; Tennessee was ranked 10th.

Illinois, on the basis of 22 measurement factors that manufacturers view as important to business, had a national score of 29.8; Tennessee had a national score of 66.7.

In addition, Illinois' national score of 29.8 was the next-to-the-worst among the six states in its region (Great Lakes); only Michigan, with a score of 11, was worse.

The Great Lakes Region group itself was ranked 37th, the lowest among the nine regional groupings. Tennessee, on the other hand, was ranked in the middle among the nine states in the South Eastern Region, which had the best ranking among the nine regions.

The Grant study for the two states also shows the following:

In 1983, the last year for which complete figures were available at the time, the average unemployment benefit paid per covered worker in Illinois was $381, in Tennessee it was $172. In that same year, the annual hourly manufacturing wage in Illinois was $9.70; in Tennessee it was $7.49.

Also in 1983, the average percent of working time lost in Illinois due to strikes involving 1,000 or more workers was 1.01; in Tennessee, it was .005.

In 1984 the weighted average worker's compensation level per $100 of payroll for manufacturing jobs in Illinois was $2.66; in Tennessee, it was $1.72. Also in 1984, union manufacturing employment as a percent of total manufacturing employment in Illinois was 11.3; in Tennessee, it was 15.8.

For Illinoisans, especially for members of the Illinois General Assembly, the message spelled out by the Saturn plant loss should be clear for all to read: unless the state starts making itself more attractive to industry, it will fail, not only to attract new business in the future, but it also can be expected to experience even greater difficulty in holding on to what businesses it now has.

Insurance too costly, complex, Quinn says

To the Editor:

Recently, members of the Coalition For Political Honesty proposed the formation of a Consumers Insurance Board (CIB) to represent the interests of Illinois families who purchase life, health, auto and homeowners insurance.

Illinois citizens today spend more than 10 cents out of every dollar for insurance. After food, housing and taxes, it is the largest household expenditure.

Despite the importance of insurance to virtually every family, consumers have never had an effective voice in the regulation of insurance.

During the last session of the General Assembly, the insurance industry fielded 61 highly-paid lobbyists. Consumers did not even have one. With these odds, it is not surprising that nearly every important reform proposal was defeated.

The Consumer Insurance Board would even up the odds for Illinois consumers. CIB would hire full-time attorneys and accountants to challenge the insurance industry and prepare shopper guides to help consumers find the best insurance policies at the lowest prices.

No tax money would be spent on the Consumer Insurance Board, which would be funded entirely by voluntary contributions. Any consumer could join CIB for $5 a year. CIB membership applications would be inserted in drivers' license and license plate letters from the secretary of state as well as in insurance bills.

To no one's surprise, the insurance industry already has pledged to fight the formation of CIB. One prominent lobbyist was quoted as saying that "I don't know of any problems that are not currently being resolved by the companies and their agents."

This response flies in the face of reality and demonstrates just how insensitive the insurance industry is to the thousands of complaints registered by consumers each year.

Every year, Illinois consumers pay more than $5 billion in insurance premiums. In return, insurance companies offer excessive rates, comprehensive policies, and outrageous delays in paying claims. CIB would be the first, and only organization in Illinois what would have the expertise and muscle to fight these abuses.

With consumers working together, we could assure that insurance companies finally serve the interests of the people who pay the premiums.

Persons who are interested in receiving more information about the Consumers Insurance Board may write me at P.O. Box 428, Oak Park 60063.

I also hope that people who have experienced problems with an insurance company will send me the details.

Illinoisans to help feed and clothe the starving

A 3-part African Relief Initiative will include a state employee payroll deduction program to help feed and clothe famine victims in Africa.

"The timeless quality of being a good samaritan knows no state or national border, as proven by the many efforts across the U.S. and the world to help feed the hungry in Africa. This program, like the Illinois Agriculture for Africa effort announced recently, will give thousands in Africa a chance to live," Gov. James R. Thompson said.

THE AFRICAN RELIEF initiative includes a voluntary contribution program for state workers. It involves coordinating the production of 65,000 garments that can be worn by Africans, and also directing efforts to persuade Illinoisans to donate pocket change to food relief programs.

To allow as many as 115,000 state employees to participate in the payroll deduction, 4,000 workers must sign a petition in favor of the plan. The governor was the first to sign the petition Aug. 10.

Once the signatures have been gathered, as much as $280,000 could be donated by state workers if a quarter of them donate an average of $10.

Funds collected under the payroll deduction program will be split evenly between five charities participating in famine relief efforts: CARE, Project Mercy, Save the Children, UNICEF and World Vision.

PRISON INMATES at Stateville are to make 500 garments a day under Operation Stitch. Myra Everette, a Chicago clothing designer, is contributing her talents to grade donated fabric.

Four Illinois clothing manufacturers — Wilson Garment Co.,

Bender Glick Sportswear, Caron Inc. and RM Kaufman — have agreed to cut the material for the garments at a minimal charge.

The Elastic Corp. has donated 66,000 yards of elastic and Weiss Co. is contributing bias tapes. Three Illinois companies — Hydor Distributing, Fishman's Fabrics and Virage Inc. — are donating a large portion of the material needed.

THE THIRD PART of the program involves creating a network of drop-off points for Illinoisans to bring coins for contribution to relief efforts. Funds collected for Change for Africa also will go to the five charities.

Change can be donated at the State of Illinois Center in Chicago, the First National Bank of Chicago and Marine Bank of Springfield. Other savings and loans and banks in Illinois will join the effort. Hinkley and Schmidt, a Chicago bottled water supplier, is providing bottles for the collection drive.

The previously announced Agriculture for Africa involves proceeds from sale of grain donated by Illinois farmers to purchase food products. It is the largest state-directed program of its kind.

At a news conference, Priscilla Smith of Project Mercy said: "MY PARENTS, who are native Ethiopians, and I are not naive about the problems in Africa. We are greatly heartened by the effort to help our people."

"To think of sewing 65,000 garments without the support of the Thompson administration would have been impossible."

Cory Trenda of World Vision expressed her support. "Both Agriculture for Africa and the program just announced are examples of leadership and humanitarianism."

$30,266 in court fines paid to local entities

Traffic fines totaling $30,266 have been distributed to Quad-City area government entities as part of $175,953 in July traffic fines released by the office of Willard V. "Butch" Portell, Madison County circuit clerk.

Fines distributed to this area and to state agencies during June included the following:

Granite City	$18,395
Madison	$3,891
Venice	$3,586
Fontenau Beach	$4,594
State overweight	$20,944
Conservation Dept.	$545

Bullet through window wounds Venice woman

Abby S. Smith, of 1020 Market St., Venice, sustained a gunshot wound to the stomach and was admitted to St. Elizabeth Medical Center at 6:19 a.m. Aug. 11.

She was visiting in the home of a friend at 904 Jackson St., W. Madison, when three shots were fired through a window, one of the bullets striking her.

Officers found a casing from a small-caliber pistol bullet outside an open window and another casing behind a stove in the residence. No suspects were found near the home.

GC police to start drive against litter, illegal car parking

Motorists beware! Starting Monday, Aug. 19, Granite City police will ticket motorists who illegally park their cars on city sidewalks and curbs.

POLICE OFFICERS will also begin strict enforcement of litter laws. The police will target motorists discarding paper, food bags or other refuse while driving.

Police Chief Bill Harris said Tuesday the drive is being made in conjunction with Mayor Von Dee Cruse's city beautification program. "The object of the drive is to clean up the town, not to get fine money," Harris said.

PERSONS CAUGHT violating parking or litter laws will be fined, however. The fine for illegal parking is $10. The fine for littering is $5 to $200.

MADISON ARREST FOR DUI Edward B. Wright, 25, of 1331 Madison Ave., Apt. 3, Madison, was arrested Aug. 11 for allegedly driving while under the influence of alcohol, driving while his license was revoked, and transporting alcohol at McCambridge Avenue and Sixth Street.

Trustees consider proposed budget

GRANITE CITY — Town Board members are considering a $1 million budget for the township.

The 1985-86 proposal represents a $30,000 increase over the 1984-85 budget.

NEW EXPENDITURES in the proposal include installation of an elevator in City Hall ($55,000), renovation of the second-floor courtroom in City Hall ($10,000), a new phone system for Town Hall ($6,000), expenses for town officials to attend seminars ($6,400) and funding for youth and senior citizen committees ($5,000 each).

A $20,000 decrease is proposed in the Municipal Retirement Fund.

The proposed budget, which was reviewed at a public hearing Monday night, was criticized by Trustees Brett Hanke and Jake Varadian for "juggling" of employee salaries.

HANKE SAID 40 percent of the money for the general assistance fund is being used for salaries.

He asked if other funds could be used for salaries and if the switching of salaries into the general assistance fund is legal.

TRUCK DRIVER ROBBED OF $100 BY TWO WOMEN

Two women entered the parked truck of Russell Glide of Mouton, Mich., at 1:22 a.m. Aug. 8 at Gateway Midwest Truck Plaza and told him to "move over," he reported to Madison police.

One reached between the two front seats and stole his wallet containing $100 cash, a check for $72 and other papers. They then entered a white 1982 Mack tractor driven by a man and left the area.

Township Attorney William Schooley Jr. said there is "nothing wrong" with paying salaries out of one fund.

SCHOOLEY SAID Federal Revenue Sharing funds have been cut and the salaries had to be funded by other monies.

It is not clear whether township workers are getting raises in the proposal. Schooley, who prepared the budget, could not be contacted Wednesday.

A final vote on the budget will be taken at a regular town board meeting at 6:45 p.m. Tuesday in the Town Hall, 2060 Delmar Ave.

THE LAW AND YOU

BY RICK REED
Attorney At Law

When the owner of a home decides to sell his residence through a real estate agent, he will usually sign a listing contract. This contract runs for a specified period of time, normally between 30 and 90 days, and provides that the real estate broker is to receive a percentage of the sale price of the home. In this area, the broker usually receives 6% of the sale price, but in larger cities the standard fee is 7%.

The question sometimes arises as to whether or not the broker is to receive his commission if he shows the home to a prospective purchaser but the sale is ultimately consummated after the listing contract expires. In one recent case, the owners of farmland listed it for sale for 30 days with a real estate broker. The broker showed it to prospective purchasers, and a real estate contract was signed by the sellers and buyers. This contract was contingent upon the buyers being able to receive financing within 20 days.

The buyers were not able to obtain bank financing initially, and the listing contract between the seller and broker expired. Subsequently, the sellers continued to negotiate with the prospective buyers, and eventually they brought about a sale without any further involvement by the real estate broker.

The broker demanded his commission since he felt that the sale resulted from his efforts, but the seller refused to pay him anything.

Under these circumstances, should the broker receive his fee? Illinois law provides that a broker is entitled to his commission if he finds a potential purchaser who is ready, willing, and able to buy on terms which the seller finds acceptable or if the sale is procured through his efforts. The question asked by the Courts in these cases is whether the broker was the "procuring cause", which may be answered by determining whether he was instrumental in bringing about the sale.

Was the broker in our example the "procuring cause" in this transaction and thus entitled to his commission? The Court in this case found that he was. They based their decision on the fact that negotiations never ended, even after the broker dropped out of the picture, but rather the broker dropped out at the time the seller and buyer desired to complete the transaction at all times. It was also noted that the final contract was very similar to the one negotiated by the broker.

Trustee, citizens speak out against seniors

GRANITE CITY — A town trustee and several residents spoke out against the recent actions of local senior citizens Monday night.

The comments were made in a meeting that was called to answer senior concerns about the township programs and building.

TRUSTEE PAUL FISK said the number of senior citizens who are complaining about the services are a very small group.

"They (the senior citizens) parents didn't learn what their children taught them as young children — that it's time for them to stand on their own two feet," he said.

"They should have learned not to expect other Granite Citizens to take care of their good times. And that's what they're asking for — for us to supplement their good times."

Fisk added that the Town Hall was built for the use of all township residents, not just seniors.

"WHEN THIS BUILDING was proposed, there was never a word mentioned that it was to be used exclusively as the senior citizens' township building office," he said.

"Instead of criticizing the programs, you (the seniors) owe the township a great vote of thanks."

A local senior, Helen Bergfield, said she is satisfied with the township programs.

"All this talk about splitting our troops," she said. "We're presenting ourselves as people who do not appreciate what we have — people who always have our hands out wanting more."

"IT'S TOO BAD we had to come down here and ask these questions — some of them are so ridiculous. Mr. Hagnauer is up there like he's on trial."

Nepotism, supervisor's duties questioned

GRANITE CITY — Nepotism in township hirings and the duties of a supervisor were questioned Monday night.

Trustee Brett Hanke told Town Board members Township Supervisor Nellie Hagnauer employs Hagnauer's wife and daughter-in-law in his office. Hanke asked if Hagnauer sees any problem with the hiring of relatives.

HAGNAUER SAID the issue has come up several times in his 24 years of service as supervisor. He said his wife formerly worked in the township assessor's office before taking a job as the office manager for the supervisor's office.

He said his daughter-in-law worked in his office seven years before becoming the office manager. "She (the daughter-in-law) has a degree in social work from SIUE and I thought her training would benefit the office," he said.

HAGNAUER SAID he is the office supervisor, the township attorney answers all of the correspondence and the mayor presides over the township meetings — what function do you serve?" he asked.

"My best supervisor is the supervisor of general assistance and he handles conflicts that occur in that program."

"I HAVE HIRED people who can handle the programs and operations of the township," Hagnauer said. "My best supervisor doesn't necessitate me to be here four or eight hours a day."

New plan for park trips

By DAVE WHALEY

GRANITE CITY — Only two tickets will now be given to each person making reservations for one-day trips sponsored by the park district.

The park board Wednesday altered its policy after some concerns were raised about the way the trips were being handled.

Before, people were allowed to buy four tickets on the bus for the one-day trips, as well as up to four tickets to St. Louis Cardinal baseball games. Only two tickets will be sold to each person for the baseball games now as well.

THE POLICY for weekend trips was also changed. People will now be able to get as many reservations as there will be people staying in one room. Previously, a person could make up to four reservations, but those four people could stay in up to four different rooms over the weekend.

If four reservations are made now, those four people must stay in the same room. Reservations can also be made for one, two or three to a room.

"I'm afraid we're trying to fix something that really isn't broken," said Board President George Sykes. "But I guess we're trying to satisfy some people who had some complaints."

RESPONSE to some concerns over people waiting outdoors on the mornings of signups for bus trips, the board decided to let people wait in the garage of the park office at Wilson Park.

The waiting line had been outside the front door. There was concern over waiting outside for the office to open while it was either raining or extremely cold.

Sykes said there will be a sign at the side of the office telling people to enter the garage door which will open at 7:30 a.m. Signups will start at 7:30 a.m., as before.

THE BOARD had considered using the ice rink for signups, but that would involve moving the cash register and would not solve the heat problem in the summer, as the rink is not air conditioned.

Sue Champion, office manager for the district, had been asked to look into the possibility of some changes in the sign-up policies. She said she checked with recreation departments in Alton, Roxana and Wood River and they all said Granite City had a good reputation for bus trips and should stay with what it is doing.

Champion noted most of the trips are sold in the summer months when the weather is normally good. She could only remember two times when it has rained on the morning of signups.

Farmers to hear national president here tomorrow

National Farmers Organization members and others in this area will hear a talk by DeVon Woodland during a meeting from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. tomorrow, Aug. 16, in the Meridian Room of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

NFO president, Woodland will discuss steps needed to preserve farms in the U.S. More than 1,000 from the Midwest region are expected to attend.

Those attending will develop strategy to raise farm produce prices high enough to provide adequate cash flow for agriculture.

MAN ARRESTED FOR DUI

Melvin R. Allen, 26, of 2618 W. 20th St. was charged with driving while under the influence of alcohol when Madison police stopped him in the 1500 block of Sixth Street Aug. 11 at 2:55 a.m. He was released after posting $102 bail.

ARRESTED AFTER CHASE

Robert B. Burris, 18, of 102 Sixth St., Madison, was arrested on four charges following a chase by police at 4:30 a.m. Aug. 11 from Greiner Homes to the 2900 block of Sixth. Booked for driving while under the influence of alcohol, leaving the scene of an accident, fleeing from police and driving recklessly, he was released on $102 bail pending a hearing.

THEFT, VANDALISM, NEAR-CRASH HARASS GRIFTHS

Rosie Griffith, 1821 Fourth St., Madison, reported Aug. 7 a sign saying "Griffith Propane Co., St. Louis," was removed and stolen from the door of a car owned by her husband, Delbert, who owns the propane business.

She said that on Aug. 5 someone broke door glass in their home with rocks. Later that night, a vandal broke windows in the mobile home of her mother in Pointon Beach and someone spray-painted and damaged a sign on the lawn of the Griffith home.

Delbert Griffith said a man driving a brown GMC pickup truck attempted to force him off the roadway at McCormick Avenue and Edwardsville Road Aug. 11. He said a woman was in the front seat of the truck, next to the driver, and two children were riding in the rear of the truck. He is seeking witnesses to Sunday's near-crash and is asking those with information to contact him at 877-3144.

ACT to take over Nameoki bus service

By SUSANNE INDELICATO
Staff writer

NAMEOKI — Bus service in Nameoki Township will be managed by the Agency for Community Transit beginning Sept. 1.

The Nameoki Town Board of Trustees voted Monday to turn its bus service over to ACT.

"I'VE BEEN assured our driver (Joanne Hargrove) will be taken care of," Township Supervisor Harry Briggs said. "I don't think we can go wrong. They're going to expand services. I think it will be good for our seniors."

Permitting ACT to manage the township's bus service will relieve the township's budget, said a letter from William Haine, chairman of the Madison County Transit District, which oversees the Agency for Community Transit.

"The citizens of Nameoki Township will have increased service because they will be part of a larger system with more services," the letter said.

"THE ACT system will bring the benefits of on-time transportation service to each and every area of Nameoki Township and to every person, irrespective of their income or disability, including trips to the doctor or hospital in Missouri (and Illinois); trips to school or to such training centers as BAC in Granite City; service to the handicapped and Social Security dependent citizens.

"This will always be done consistently with efficiency, courtesy and at great savings to the taxpayers," Haine's letter said.

Madison County Transit officials urged Nameoki Township to join ACT in an effort to consolidate various bus services in the county.

IF THE TOWNSHIP had rejected the offer, it could have lost its funding for the senior bus service, Briggs said.

He estimated the township received $24,000 annually from the transit district for maintenance and operation of the bus service.

A clause in the contract with the transit district allowed the district to stop funding the bus service with five days' notice.

THE BUS DRIVER was paid with the township's Federal Revenue Sharing funds but the revenue sharing program is scheduled to end in September 1986, Briggs noted.

Joining ACT would provide the following advantages, as cited by ACT officials:

Door-to-door service, a fleet of 19 vehicles which would be better able to provide back-up service should the township bus break down, a toll-free telephone number to the dispatching center, and maintenance service.

Nameoki Township senior and handicapped citizens would be able to go from the township to such areas as Granite City, St. Louis, Belleville, Alton, Edwardsville and Collinsville.

IN ADDITION, ACT has purchased property at the intersection of Interstate 270 and Route 11 for a new dispatching facility. Officials expect the building to be built and in operation in a year.

ACT buses run from 5:30 a.m. to past midnight on week nights and Saturdays, but there is no service on Sundays.

As part of the new agreement, Nameoki Township will sign its bus over to ACT. The bus was originally purchased by the transit district and signed over on the title to the township.

LAST MONTH, the Nameoki Township bus service transported 396 passengers.

The service traveled a total of 1,821 miles for an average of 113 miles per day of operation.

GC resident graduates as intermediate EMT

Ten graduates of an Anderson Hospital EMT intermediate class have passed their state board examinations for certification as intermediate emergency medical technicians in Illinois. This is the third time that 100 percent of the graduates from the Anderson mobile intensive care unit program have passed their state examinations. The group includes Barbara Jones of Granite City.

The EMT intermediate class started in March and ended in June. During their instruction, graduates undertook 150 hours of classroom instruction and 50 hours of clinical training in the Anderson emergency department. They are continuing field training with their respective units under the supervision of the Anderson MICU staff.

More funding for county fairs

County fair officials and more than 40 Illinois county fair associations were on hand Aug. 9 at the Illinois State Fair as Gov. James R. Thompson signed legislation that will increase funding for county fairs in Illinois by more than $1 million.

"We have experienced a tremendous boost in attendance at many county fairs in recent years and this legislation recognizes that fact," Thompson said. "It ensures that those fairs which have proven to be successful will benefit in future years."

The new law upgrades the present fair funding formula based on activity during the 1967 and 1968 fiscal years to a formula that will be derived from premiums paid in 1984 or 1985, whichever has the largest paid premium totals.

It increases the reimbursement amount county fairs receive on physical improvements from $15,250 to $20,000 per fair.

Governor will tell his plans Aug. 19

Governor James R. Thompson says "the minute the State Fair is over," he will announce his plans for 1986.

The governor selected Monday, Aug. 19, as the date when he will announce his political intentions for next year.

"The Illinois State Fair is a special time for my family and the families of Illinois and we're going to enjoy it without worrying about politics," he said.

The governor has scheduled a flyaround that will take Thompson and Lieutenant Governor George Ryan and their families to Springfield, Carbondale, Belleville, Peoria, Moline, Rockford and Chicago.

First elected in 1976 and re-elected in 1978 and 1982, he is expected to seek a fourth term but has declined to confirm this.

More veterans eligible for scholarships

Eligibility for the Illinois Veterans' Scholarship Program has been expanded. A law signed this week removes service prior to the date of May 1, 1975, as a requirement for eligibility.

"This has been a landmark year for education in Illinois," Gov. James R. Thompson said. "So it gives me great pride to sign legislation which will offer educational opportunities to the more than 14,000 Illinois veterans who served in the armed forces after May 1, 1975."

"Every penny spent on educating an Illinois citizen is an investment in the future of the state. This law benefits all of Illinois and is in the spirit of what education reform and Build Illinois are all about."

Effective immediately, it was sponsored by Senators Sam Vadalabene of Edwardsville and William Mahar of Homewood and Representatives Robert Piel of South Holland and David Phelps of Eldorado.

Thompson signed it along with other legislation on veterans at a luncheon held for veterans' groups at the Executive Mansion Aug. 11.

The bills signed:

- Amend the School Code to permit any person eligible for an MIA-POW (missing in action or prisoner of war) Scholarship, but who is physically, mentally or developmentally disabled, to use the equivalent benefit to pay for attendance or treatment at an appropriate therapeutic, rehabilitative or educational facility.

Another provision of the bill authorizes the State Scholarship Commission to participate with federal, state, local and university law enforcement agencies to detect and prosecute fraud in student assistance programs.

Reduce from 90 to 30 days the amount of wartime service necessary to be eligible for admission to the Illinois Veterans' Home, effective Jan. 1, 1986.

Increase from $300 to $600 the limit that will be paid for burial of veterans and their families. Sponsored by Sen. Vadalabene and Representatives Piel and Charles Pangle of Bradley, the law takes effect immediately.

Correct a technical error in the Burial of Indigent Veterans Act by appropriately changing "inmates" to "residents" in referring to veterans living in the Illinois Veterans Home. Sponsored by Sen. Vadalabene and Representatives Piel and Jeffery Mays of Quincy, this law is effective immediately.

Expand the use of ex-prisoner of war license plates to light trucks, 8,000 pounds or less. The plates currently are issued for use on passenger cars only.

Provide free admission and camping in state parks to former prisoners of war and to veterans who are 100 percent disabled. Vadalabene was among the sponsors.

Amend the Housing for Disabled Veterans Act, raising the maximum assistance granted from $10,000 to $12,000 for acquiring specially adapted housing and from $1,670 to $2,000 for remodeling a home to accommodate a disability.

Expand the Indigent War Veterans Act to include members of the Polish Legion of American Veterans and Vietnam veterans' organizations as eligible to serve on county Veterans Assistance Commissions. The commissions are responsible for a variety of decisions at the county level which affect veterans in their region.

Create a veterans' nursing home in Manteno. The Illinois Veterans' Home, Manteno, which will be run by the Department of Veterans Affairs, is to open in the 1985-86 fiscal year.

More full-service bank units allowed

A law signed Aug. 8 increases from three to five the number of full-service facilities a bank is permitted to operate. It takes effect immediately.

"This change in the Illinois Banking Act will allow more facilities to operate, offering all the banking services permitted at their main banks. This expansion will help full-service facilities better answer the needs of their customers, benefiting both banks and consumers," Gov. James R. Thompson said.

Lakeview Estates subject of debate

By SUSANNE INDELICATO
Staff writer

PONTON BEACH — A confrontation looms between the village board and developer Darrell Layman.

Village officials are wondering when Layman, who is building homes in Lakeview Estates, will prepare Georgetown Drive for chipping and sealing. They are also concerned that Layman may be subdividing lots and digging foundations for homes without a building permit.

"If he is resubdividing, it must be approved by the village board," Trustee Lou Whitsell said during Tuesday's meeting.

Village attorney Keith Jensen agreed a developer cannot change a plat or redraw the lines without board approval. Jensen also said it would be a violation of the village's ordinance if construction begins without a building permit.

"I think what we need to do is find out exactly what the problems are, roads, drainage — and give him a chance to comply," Jensen said. Failure to comply could result in the village seeking a stop order.

JENSEN SAID Layman has redrawn six lots to form eight, according to building permit applications. A resident alleged Layman has started laying a foundation without a building permit.

Also discussed was a need for grading and laying of rock on Georgetown Drive so the road can be chipped and sealed.

"He said he would fix the street to oil and chip it," Board President Glen Wilson said. "I'll just keep on him. That's all I can do."

"WHY CAN'T the township (Nankook) put the rock down?" Pontoon Beach resident Lee Ridgeway asked the board. "It looks like the village could do something."

Wilson said rock was put on the street, but the street was torn up again by heavy construction vehicles.

Layman said Wednesday he has the first three-fourths of Georgetown Drive ready for chipping and sealing, but a recent rain has washed mud onto the road.

"I THINK the road's ready enough for chipping and sealing," Layman said. "The street's in better shape now than it ever has been. I've redone everything except the lower end, from Westgate to the cul-de-sac."

"Two weeks ago I put three tractor-trailer loads of rock on it and graded it, but then the rain came," he said.

"I asked them (the village) not to go in there with an expensive street while the trucks are going in and out of there," Layman said of the lower end of Georgetown Drive.

PONTON BEACH has a year-old contract with C.D. Peters to chip and seal Georgetown Drive at a cost of $4,000. Village officials have said Peters is waiting for Layman to grade the road and put rock on it before beginning work.

Layman agreed to release five building permits to Layman if he prepared Georgetown for chipping and sealing. Layman said he has not received the building permits, although the proposed construction has been approved by village building inspector Bill Morgan.

"They're (village officials) the ones dragging their feet, not me," Layman said.

VILLAGE CLERK Mary Warren said the building permits have been completed but Layman has not picked them up from the Village Hall.

She said the permits initially weren't issued until a question over the ownership of some of the lots was answered.

Meanwhile, Layman said he has resubdivided his lots.

"WE DO IT all the time," he said, adding he doesn't need to submit another plat to the village board "as long as we stay within the square footage of the zoned area."

In a related matter, Trustee Bob Vincent said Layman has not installed riprap, or a stone foundation, along a drainage ditch in Lakeview Estates.

Last month, it was said Layman mistakenly covered a drainage ditch. He has since uncovered the ditch. Village officials feel riprap should be installed along the ditch walls to keep them from caving in.

THE LAKEVIEW Estates subdivision was first developed by Jim Green. Layman said he bought 22 remaining lots last October and began building homes.

Layman lives on Georgetown Drive and operates Denni Construction Co. in Granite City.

Other action

PONTON BEACH — The Village Board of Trustees also considered the following issues during Tuesday night's meeting:

• Approved the village's annual audit and placed an audit of the village's 1984 motor fuel tax fund on file.

• Annexed Lot 14 of Hartline's 3rd Subdivision into the village. Petitioners were Fred and Sharon Hartline. The property is zoned for single-family residential use.

• Was informed the Community Development Committee approved a bid of $39,900 from Helmar Construction of Granite City to build an addition to the senior citizens' center. The bid has been forwarded to the Madison County Community Development office for its approval.

• Heard Trustee Don Rea say the ordinance committee was considering amending some of the village's zoning provisions involving special use permits for mobile homes. Setback specifications and two-year time limits on special use permits are some of the changes the committee is considering.

• Voted to require appointed officials in the village, such as the building inspector and health officer, to submit written reports to the board. Trustees Bob Vincent and Bob Abel voted against the motion.

Discussed, but took no action: on Rea's recommendation that the village hire a full-time secretary to handle letters and other documents sent to the village.

Rea said the village may have lost $25,000 in community development funds for housing rehabilitation because the community development committee did not receive the proper documents before the application deadline. The documents were sent to the Village Hall but were never received by the committee.

Dr. Patel to talk on valvular heart disease

Dr. K. Patel, a cardiologist on the staff at St. Elizabeth Medical Center, will discuss valvular heart disease during the next meeting of the coronary club on Wednesday, Aug. 21, at 7 p.m. in the Wiseman Room at the medical center.

Open to anyone interested in learning more about heart disease, the coronary club serves as a resource to heart patients, their relatives and interested professionals. The club also provides education and supportive socialization for persons diagnosed with coronary artery disease.

For more information or to arrange for transportation, those interested may contact Bev Motil or Laura Tungett at 798-3659.

ANGELA JUDD. Daughter of Larry and Susan Judd, 714 Brown Ave., Venice, she will be on the YMCA swimming team this fall after completing all learn-to-swim phases in record time. The St. Mary-St. Mark pupil, 11, began "Y" aquatics lessons four months ago and progressed through Polliwig, Guppy, Minnow, Fish, Flying Fish and Shark levels; the patches earned are shown on her swimsuit. A John Robert Powers modeling student, she has won 175 trophies, 12 ribbons and four medals, including two bronze medals from Notre Dame University. She enjoys canoeing, twirling, sewing, horseback riding and classes in art, science and computers. She began swimming to ease an arthritic condition and progressed so rapidly she has no classmates at present for advanced "Dolphin" instruction.

DREW KARANDJEFF
PRESIDENT
Central Bank of Granite City

Q: There is an old saying I've heard that goes something like, "A town grows up around its bank". Why is this so or is it?

A: There is a very firm basis behind that old saying. A bank provides services not only to individuals, but also to the community as a whole. At our bank, for example, we do everything from cashing a $2 check to helping businessmen buy new equipment to upgrading their operations, or getting started in a new venture. In savings, we try to attract the collective savings of the community, to reallocate them while they are busy working by earning interest. The reallocation is aimed at meeting the needs of the community through various loan and investment opportunities. These might include everything from personal loans to a family or for bonds financing a new school, hospital, hotel or restaurant. As a member of our community, you benefit at least twice—first when you collect the interest earned on your savings or investment instrument and second from projects which improve our community.

Nameoki Township endorses assessment settlement

By SUSANNE INDELICATO
Staff writer

NAMEOKI — Another step has been taken toward settlement of the Granite City Steel assessment protest. The Nameoki Town Board of Trustees on Monday authorized the township supervisor and attorney to sign documents necessary to finalize the settlement.

"AS FAR AS we're concerned, we're happy and unhappy with this decision," Township Supervisor Harry Briggs said on behalf of the town board. "We're happy it's settled; we're unhappy we didn't get any more money as far as the assessed valuation. There was some doubt in our minds as to whether we should approve this decision."

Briggs noted that Granite City Steel paid its 1983 taxes under protest. Those taxes have been held in escrow, but should be released to the taxing districts this year, he said.

If Granite City Steel cooperates with the assessment agreement, Briggs said, the company no longer will pay its taxes under protest, and the township and other taxing districts will receive their tax monies on time.

BRIGGS COULD not say how much the township will receive in taxes from Granite City Steel until the settlement is approved by all taxing bodies and filed with the Property Tax Appeal Board of Illinois. The plant's assessed value was set at $54 million for 1983 and $57 million for the 1984 tax year, according to the assessment agreement.

William Schooley III, an attorney for the taxing bodies, confirmed an agreement on a $60 million assessment has been reached for 1983.

THE SETTLEMENT concerns the assessed value of the steel plant, located in Granite City and Nameoki townships, for the tax years of 1983 through 1987.

The agreement was reached between attorneys for the two sides after William Townsley, a nationally known assessment expert from Chicago, appraised the plant.

Seven local taxing bodies affected by the plant's assessment agreed to share the cost of the appraisal. The Board of Education of School District 9 coordinated the appraisal because the school district spends more than half of local real estate tax dollars.

TAXING DISTRICTS that have ratified the settlement so far include Nameoki Township, Granite City Township, the Granite City School District, the Granite City Park District and Belleville Area College. The Metro-East Sanitary District has taken no action on the settlement.

At one point, Granite City Steel objected to about four-fifths of its assessment in Madison County. The plant is part of National Steel Corp., whose parent firms are National Intergroup Inc. of Pittsburgh and Nippon Kokan of Japan.

Citing a financial squeeze affecting all domestic steelmakers, the plant noted cost-cutting measures it had placed in effect and said it also needed to curb its tax obligation.

BECAUSE GRANITE City Steel is the highest local taxpayer, governing boards of some of the taxing bodies said a four-fifths reduction in the assessment would drastically restrict their ability to continue local governmental services.

Steel officials suggested a compromise on the assessment during a Madison County Board of Review hearing, but when that compromise was rejected, the steel plant continued its appeal.

A state appeal hearing has been delayed until September and is likely to be cancelled if the proposed settlement is approved.

Nameoki tax levy set

By SUSANNE INDELICATO
Staff writer

NAMEOKI — Township officials hope to bring in more money for the township this year.

The Nameoki Town Board of Trustees passed a tax levy resolution Monday, setting the total levy for the township at $308,000. That is 29 percent more than last year's levy of $238,526.

TOWN OFFICIALS said the township's tax rate will remain the same. The increase in the levy takes into account a possible rise in the total assessed valuation of property in the township.

A breakdown of the township's tax levy for 1985 includes $200,000 in the general town fund. That fund is made up of $162,174 for administration, $27,300 for the assessor division, $5,526 for the collector division and $5,000 for contingencies.

Another $80,000 has been earmarked for the general assistance fund, including $31,530 for administration, $47,900 for home relief and $570 for contingencies.

The Illinois Municipal Retirement Fund is expected to receive $28,000.

THE TOWN BOARD also set its road district levy at $160,000.

Officials expect to receive $132,000 in the general road fund, including $77,550 in the administration division, $47,520 in the road division, $5,000 in the building division and $1,930 for contingencies. The IMRF is allotted $28,000.

Other action

NAMEOKI — Other issues coming before the Town Board of Trustees Monday included the following:

- Township Collector Steve Isenberg said he had collected and distributed $2,588,804 in property taxes through Aug. 8. He urged taxpayers to consider paying their second installment of taxes three weeks prior to the Sept. 18 deadline because a township collector may only collect real estate taxes through Aug. 31.

- If taxpayers pay their taxes to him by the last week in August, he will distribute the tax monies to the taxing districts by the first week in September, he said. He contended that taxes paid to the county treasurer's office would not be distributed for three weeks or more.

- Trustee Norm Hall said he would schedule another meeting between township officials and officials from Granite City and the Metro-East Sanitary District. The three have agreed to share the costs and operation of a well in the Dobey Slough area in an effort to reduce the high underground water level.

- A petition requesting annexation of Glory Lane was referred to the township attorney. Residents on the street are asking for the annexation so the township will maintain the street.
- Trustee Ken Davis, concerned about some rumored annexation efforts in the township, advised residents wishing to annex into Granite City that their taxes would increase due to the city's park district and library taxes. He said residents who have been asked to sign annexation petitions may call the township collector or assessor if they have questions about how annexation would affect their taxes.

- Two Eagle Park residents told township officials they have had a problem with vandalism in their neighborhood. Township Supervisor Harry Briggs said he would call the Madison County Sheriff's Department and request that patrolling be increased in the area.

- The residents also told the town board tractor-trailer rigs have been traveling down Roosevelt Drive and have knocked utility wires down from a home on several occasions. Highway Commissioner Lee Adams said he would speak to the proper authorities.

- Trustee Joe Garcia commended the highway department for its drainage work on Breckenridge Lane and Warnock Avenue. He noted that blacktopping had begun on Whippoorwill Lane.

- Township officials noted that shut-ins can obtain free commodities during the monthly commodity distribution by calling the township hall at 797-0568.

Grants offered for legal aid to poor

The Lawyers Trust Fund of Illinois is accepting grant applications from organizations that provide direct civil legal services to the poor. $200,000 in grants will be made available in December to qualifying organizations.

Deadline for applications is Sept. 23, according to Ruth Ann Schmitt, executive director of the Lawyers Trust Fund, 55 E. Monroe, Chicago (telephone 1-312-372-5906).

The trust fund was created in 1963 by the Illinois State Bar Association and the Chicago Bar Association. On May 1, 1983, the Illinois Supreme Court authorized an interest-bearing trust account program to permit attorneys to place their pooled client trust funds in interest-bearing accounts to serve the public. Over 4,200 Illinois lawyers, about 20 percent of those eligible, are participating.

Hutton Ford presents pickup truck to woman

Hutton Ford in Wood River and KUSA Radio climaxed a four-week promotion by giving away a 1985 Ford pickup truck.

The public was invited to register at Hutton Ford or call KUSA at preannounced times. KUSA afternoon personality Paul Warner was on hand as well as Allen Barklage, KUSA traffic reporter.

"We're all pleased with how the promotion worked," said Clarence Nie, owner of Hutton Ford. "It generated traffic and we definitely sold some units."

The winner was Hazel Reimbold of Lemay, Mo. Wood River Mayor Lon Smith and Sen. Sam Vadalabene, D-Edwardsville, witnessed the presentation.

Saturday meeting at Nameoki Presbyterian

"Macaroni at Midnight" will be heard Saturday by Windjammer Mariners of the Nameoki Presbyterian Church. A potluck dinner will precede the presentation at 6:30 p.m. Skippers Larry and Dorothy Melvin said.

The program is a profile given by Don Bartlette, Ph.D. It is the story of his experiences growing up as an Indian child with severe handicaps in a poverty environment. It has been heard over 4,000 times at state, national and international gatherings and conferences.

"Living with Confidence" will be the theme of Pastor Donald Pieron's message in the 10-11 a.m. worship service Sunday. A coffee hour and Bible study for adults will begin at 9 a.m.

Madison businessmen may counsel students

By DONNA KIMBRO
Staff writer

Beth Harris, a representative of Junior Achievement, gave a presentation to the Madison Businessmen's Association Tuesday to encourage help in introducing Project Business to Madison students.

JA companies are operated by high school students as a way of learning the free enterprise system. Project Business involves business people talking on a regular basis to junior high school classes.

"THIS PROGRAM is coordinated with area businessmen who meet with students once a week to introduce them to basic economic ideas and competition in business," she said.

Junior Achievement and related programs are funded solely by voluntary contributions from the business world. There is prepared material to guide the consultants, the speaker added.

She said, "Project Business began in 1984 in Granite City schools and attracted pupils for 10 classes. Now, 26 classes have been set up. This year, I would like to introduce the same program to the Madison School District and would like for Madison businessmen to become part of the project," Harris explained.

Members of the association met at Voloski's Restaurant, 1300 Madison Ave.

DAVID SCHERMER announced the new executive vice president of the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce is R.C. Bush and he is expected to begin his duties in the chamber office next week.

Mr. and Mrs. Gene (Helen) Daley said they plan to retire as soon as their business, Daley's Needlework and Gift Shop at 417 Madison Ave., Madison, is sold. They have purchased property in Bennett Springs, Lebanon Mo., and will make their home there when they retire.

The next meeting of the group will be on Sept. 10 at Voloski's.

Monsanto Fund aids bi-county development

The Southwestern Illinois Development Foundation has received a $10,000 donation from the Monsanto Fund to further its economic development research activities in Madison and St. Clair counties. This is the second contribution from the Monsanto Fund.

The not-for-profit Foundation provides research, information and educational materials to enhance economic development opportunities for the two counties. It is housed at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville in association with the Leadership Council of Southwestern Illinois.

Deaths in county up; decrease in weddings

The number of births and deaths in Madison County increased in July compared to July 1984, while the number of marriages decreased, according to statistics from Madison County Clerk Evelyn Bowles' office. There were 338 births in the county last month, compared to 295 a year ago. Of last month's births, 175 were boys and 163 were girls.

The number of deaths rose to 193 in July from 149 in July 1984.

Marriages numbered 178 last month, down from 194 in July 1984 when there were 228 marriages.

First Days Of Practice

It's Fall practice time: Loosen and limber up

In Granite City

By ALAN L. GERSTENECKER
Executive Sports Editor
GRANITE CITY — After a long and lonely summer in which barely a soul trampled its turf, the acreage behind both Granite City High and Coolidge Junior High Schools have come alive with activity this week. It's the first week of practice for fall sports.

Action began as early as 7 a.m. Monday as the Warrior football team kicked off its season. Avoiding the heat of the day, Coach Ron Yates' squads are practicing twice a day, at 7 a.m. for two hours and then again at 3:30 p.m. for another 90 minutes.

BECAUSE of the physical demand that football requires, the Illinois High School Association allows football players to begin practice two days earlier than the rest of the spring sports. According to those IHSA guidelines, gridder must practice three full days without pads to "ease athletes into their practice routines." The Warriors were in full pads by this morning's practice.

For the rest of the fall sports teams — boys' soccer, girls' tennis, cross country and volleyball — practice officially began Wednesday, the earliest date allowed by the IHSA.

THE GROUNDS around the schools, which laid undisturbed for most of the summer except for an occasional home run ball which escaped Varsity Field, have once again come alive with young athletes.

Behind Coolidge, assistant Warrior football coach Brian Wilkinson was working with a group of sophomores. "Get those legs up. Up in the air," Wilkinson ordered as the group did calisthenics.

Twenty yards away from Wilkinson, in another group, was Yates and his squad of varsity linemen, big and somewhat confident of themselves.

"This time," Yates said as he led his linemen through a routine, "we're going to run pro set."

SECONDS later the linemen were jumping on the coach, firing across the line at their teammates holding overstuffed practice dummies.

On occasion, a few holding the dummies went down after the impact. It was only practice, but a few were getting all their ticks in just the same.

Turning a few degrees toward the middle of the field was Bob Stegemeier, assistant varsity coach and defensive coordinator, barking out to his defensive backs.

Stegemeier had his athletes "going through the motions" of a defensive back. Backpeddling, sidestepping, all the while watching him, the would-be quarterback.

"Keep your eyes on me and watch the ball," Stegemeier said.

IN THE middle of the field were assistant coaches Walt Whitaker and Gus Lignoul and a group of greenhorns, freshmen backs.

The two coaches had their group running obstacles.

"Get those legs up high," Lignoul said. "And spread yourselves out a little bit. Don't get too close that you're stepping on each other."

Way down on the end, by the cafeteria, was Al Lewis and his group of sophomore linemen.

"C'mon," Lewis said standing on the back of the linemen sled. "You guys are even pushing this thing straight."

Had Lewis not righted the sled's course, it would have made an arc right towards the cafeteria where the pom pon girls were practicing.

SPEAKING of pom pons, they were there in full force, too, practicing under the protective covering of the cafeteria's patio.

"Take our picture, you took theirs," one pom pon said pointing toward the segregated squads of gridder. "We're practicing too."

Practicing right along with the gridder and the pom pons was the Warrior soccer team.

"I guess we've got about 80 to 85 kids out today," said Warrior coach Gene Baker of turnout for his inaugural practice for 1985.

"We'll be working on conditioning this week, fundamentals, kicking and push passing," Baker said. "Juggling and dribbling will also be part of our workouts before Friday when we'll run the mile."

THE SOCCER team, like the football team, is practicing twice a day

GRID WORKOUT. Granite City High School football coach Ron Yates, under center, calls a play during Wednesday morning's workout. While Wednesday was the first day for most sports teams, it was the third for the Warrior gridder. Twice-a-day workouts will continue until school begins.

— 9 a.m. and 2 p.m. Baker's staff remains unchanged, the same it's been for three years since Granite City's high schools merged. Assistant Baker and coaching the junior varsity will be Mel Bunting while Dave Ames will coach the freshmen.

Moving toward the other end of the practice fields, toward GCHS' tennis courts on Grand Ave., was Dick Harmon and his group of 16 netters.

Harmon, who has coached Warrior tennis for 30 years and has retired from the classroom, was out helping some of his girls with their forehand strokes by 9:30 a.m.

"IT'S TOO early to tell what kind of team we're going to have, but we've got some good girls coming back," Harmon said. "We're sure going to get our practices in between now and our first match."

Like their classmates, the tennis team is practicing twice a day, at 9:30 a.m. and 2 p.m., until school begins.

Even in the shady confines of the Wilson Park jogging trail it wasn't hard to find Dave McClain and his cross country team.

"We're taking it pretty easy now," McClain said. "This week we're just going to work on conditioning, four or five miles a practice."

"WITH OUR light and heavy running days figured in we'll average about 30 miles a week. By the time school starts and we practice just once a day — after school — we hope to have built up our workouts to where we'll still be running about 30 miles," McClain said.

"Some of our kids have been running during the summer and others, well... it was summer. We're going to take it pretty easy," McClain said.

On the first day of practice, 25 athletes turned out — 15 boys and 10 girls.

Coming in out of the weather, Granite City High's volleyball team wasted little time on its first day of practice.

Led by long-time coach Wilma Schulze, the spikers working on exercises upon exercise Wednesday morning.

In all there were 24 girls who turned out for the initial day of practice. "It's a pretty good turnout. First days are always fun."

Athletes flock to Madison workouts

By GREGG OCHOA
Staff Writer

MADISON — Madison High School principal Dan Kostenick looked on with more than a usual interest.

"You know," he was saying, "I've been coming to morning football practice for seven years now. I've tried to keep up with what's going on. But this year my stomach's turning. My son's out there."

Meanwhile, a few feet from Kostenick, Don Smith's voice pierced the silence as he gave instructions to his Madison High School football players.

"COME ON now," the coach said. "Everybody runs it through. We're not done yet. It's not early, nobody wants to go home yet, do they?"

No one dared to respond.

The sounds of pads crunching and the deep calls of the coach pointed to the beginning of the fall prep sports season.

As many as 18 lettermen returned to football practice Tuesday — the second earliest day teams may begin workouts, according to the Illinois High School Association.

The remainder of the squad reported to school on Wednesday as workouts accelerated into high gear, despite the hot and humid weather.

SMITH begins his third year at Madison on an optimistic note. It is still too early to determine most of the roster positions, but turnout was high. Smith welcomed 45 players to Wednesday's session.

"This is the most we have had come back in quite a long time," Smith said. "That's just great. For once, we don't have to look for people to play."

Another bright spot is that of our players' severable varsity experience, including the offensive backfield.

"This makes a big difference when you start off the season," the coach said most players returned to practice in pretty good shape.

"WE HAD about 30 of them on a weight program during the winter and they also worked out their own," Smith said.

A lot of them did some running and came in and seemed to handle the equipment and the heat really well.

Early paces consisted mostly of soft-contact and agility drills as quarterbackbacks and ball handlers got accustomed to snaps and hand-offs.

Meanwhile, linemen candidates were working with assistant coach Mark Diles refining blocking skills and slowly getting back into shape.

Underclassmen were being put through their drills by Marcus Spragins, another Trojan assistant coach.

SMITH said the Trojans are practicing just one time per day in the morning, and will begin the rigors of two-a-days on Monday, Aug. 19.

"The reason for that is that the first varsity day we have open. That means we'll have extra practices and I don't want to burn the kids out," Smith said.

The open date at the start of the season should not pose any problems for the Trojans.

"I would rather have it in the beginning or at the end of the season," Smith said. "If you have it (open date) in the middle if kind of breaks up everything. Once you start playing you would rather just play every week."

A slightly smaller turnout than expected marked the first day of practice. An estimated 15 players reported.

"It's a little low," said Trojans Coach Gene Briggs. "I would like to have around 20."

Briggs said summer jobs could be one reason some students didn't report to the first day of practice. The coach, however, is optimistic that the numbers will grow.

MADISON will conduct soccer workouts just one time per day as it prepares from its first game in September.

"Basically we'll just work on conditioning and fundamentals," Briggs said. "We won't even start to think about positions until we have mastered all the basics."

On Wednesday, emphasis was placed stretching muscles into shape and running. Players were timed on four laps around the perimeter of the soccer field.

Players then broke up into groups to take part in ball handling drills.

All in all, Briggs was satisfied. "It's just the first day, you can't really tell much. But they showed some basic skills."

INSIDE the high school the sounds of volleyballs meeting the hand echoed through the air as the Trojaneettes began workouts.

"All in all, Briggs was satisfied," said Coach Carol Cole. "We had a lot of girls coming back and some young players."

An estimated 14 girls reported for the first day. "There should be more a few girls are working over the summer and their jobs don't end until Friday. Madison is conducting two-hour sessions daily in the main gym."

A lot of it is just easing the girls back in, conditioning and stretching," Cole said. "We'll start working out with weights every other day and work on some drills."

"I think it will be a lot of fun," she added.

Former Warrior, Saluki Deterding earns way into SIU-C Hall

CARBONDALE — Robin Deterding, a 1976 graduate of Granite City South High School and a 1980 graduate of Southern Illinois University at Carbondale is among eight SIU-C athletes who will be added to that school's Hall of Fame during an induction ceremony Saturday, Sept. 7.

Deterding, a softball and volleyball standout for the Salukis, will be in the spotlight at a brunch and induction ceremony preceding the SIU-Southwest Missouri State football game. They will also be introduced during half-time festivities at the game, which begins at 1:30 p.m.

HOW LIVING in Springfield where she is a medical student, Deterding was a four-year standout in softball and volleyball and was twice named SIUC Female Athlete of the Year.

A three-time recipient of the Virginia Gordon (given annually to an exemplary all-around athlete), Deterding was named Outstanding Leader-Athlete in 1980.

A fixture on SIUC's most successful softball teams, Deterding spanned the Salukis to three consecutive 20-win seasons, an Illinois AIAW state crown, a Midwest Regional title and two berths in the Women's College World Series.

HER CAREER statistics included a .317 batting average and five other school records. She hit .371 as a sophomore and .455 at the Illinois AIAW State Tourney her senior year.

A regional candidate for the Pan American Games in 1978, Deterding was drafted by the St. Louis Cardinals of the Women's Professional Softball League, but opted to stay in school.

She also played Saluki basketball for two years. Deterding, a Granite City native and whose father is Don Deterding, coach of the Granite City High School basketball team, received her bachelor's degree in biological sciences and is currently a fourth year medical student at the SIUC School of Medicine in Springfield.

Deterding

In volleyball, Deterding was SIUC's top hitter-setter during a four-year period and made an appearance in the 1979 AIAW National Championship. A three-time team captain, she was named to the Illinois AIAW All-State Team as a junior and in 1978 was named Outstanding Female Rookie at the U.S. Volleyball Association Coed National Championship.

SHE SERVED as assistant coach with the Saluki spikers from 1980-1982.

She also played Saluki basketball for two years. Deterding, a Granite City native and whose father is Don Deterding, coach of the Granite City High School basketball team, received her bachelor's degree in biological sciences and is currently a fourth year medical student at the SIUC School of Medicine in Springfield.

Hagen wins Wilson Park tennis titles

GRANITE CITY — Brandy Hagen was a double winner in the 24th annual Granite City Park District Invitational Tennis Tournament which concluded last week.

In other highlights, Joshua Reed, one of the highest ranked junior players in the area, had little trouble taking home a championship.

Players were divided into 15 separate age classifications to determine both singles and doubles champions.

In the Boys 12 Singles, Reed beat Todd Wilkins in straight sets 6-0, 6-3.

In the 13-14 Singles title match, Brad Mossman downed Tom Desmond 6-1, 6-0.

Craig Sunn was the Boys 16 Singles winner beating Tom Young 6-4, 6-2. In the Boys 18 Singles, Ed Ables downed Bob Palmer by identical 6-2, 6-2 scores.

In Girls 14 Singles, Kerl Weckman ousted Mary Helen Avel 6-1, 6-1 in the finals.

Brandy Hagen of O'Fallon was a double winner in the Girls 16 and 18 singles. In both championship matches, Hagen beat Mary Vorwald. In the 16 singles the final score was 6-3, 6-1.

In the Girls 18 finals, Hagen won 7-5, 6-0. Vorwald was the defending champion in that age group.

In the Men's singles, Allan Farmer stopped Ed Ables 6-4, 6-4. In the Men's 35 singles Mike Barnes won after his opponent, Ben Harris, was forced to withdraw in the third set with the score knotted at 1-1.

Harris won the first set 6-3, but lost the second one 1-6.

In Women's Singles finals, Carolyn Siegel outlasted Catherine

Vorwald 2-6, 7-6, 6-0.

In Men's Doubles, Farmer and Jeff Cox downed Marty and Ed Ables 6-4, 6-3. In Men's 35 Doubles, Iner and Patrick beat the duo of Sherwood and Bates 4-6, 6-2, 6-3.

In Boys 14 Doubles, Mike Joergensen and Dan Barnes were 6-2, 6-0 winners over Darby Parker and Prewitt. The combo of Craig Sunn and Ed Ables won the Boys 16 Doubles over John and Jacob Hardimon 6-1, 6-2. In Girls 16 Doubles, Hagen and Weckman beat Maria Von Alst and Erin Mahoney 6-3, 6-2.

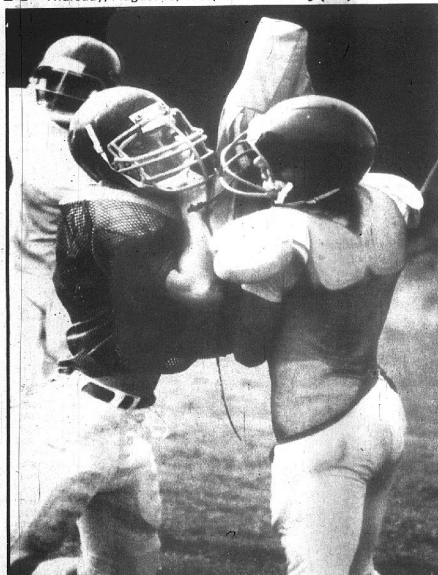

Cant signs with SEMO

CAPE GIRARDEAU, Mo. — Scott Cant, a 1985 graduate of Granite City High School, has signed a track national letter of intent to attend Southeast Missouri State University. Cant was starred for the Warriors' basketball as well as its track team, will attend classes this fall while training as a track decathlete.

An honor student, the 6-foot 5-inch Cant has enrolled in the university's honor program and is a Regent's Scholarship recipient.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Ken Zampaglione and Jim Cant, he will study business administration and economics at SEMO.

On The First Day Of Practice...

ON THE FIRST DAY OF PRACTICE... The phrase sounds a lot like a Christmas Carol. A sure sign that summer is waning away and fall is just around the corner is the inaugural day of fall sports practices. • At top left and going counter clockwise, Lisa Mills practices a set up during a volleyball workout at Granite City High School. • Two Madison gridders make impact during a linemen's exercise Wednesday morning. • Granite City High School's pom poms stop their practice routine long enough to pose for this photograph. • A group of freshmen backs run a human obstacle course. • GCHS soccer player Russ Ethridge dribbles a soccer ball on his head during a Wednesday workout. • Marcia Williams, GCHS tennis player, returns a shot to teammate Linda Briner during their workout Wednesday.

Church Softball Championships State tourney resumes this Saturday

By JAMES BLASINGAME
Staff writer
GRANITE CITY — The Illinois Amateur Softball Association State Tournament for church teams will resume Saturday morning after being rained out last weekend.

According to IASA assistant vice-president Ray Hoffman who lives in Granite City, 24 teams remain in the state-wide, double-elimination tourney, but a winner will be determined by 11 p.m. Saturday.

"Twenty games were played last Thursday and Friday nights before the games on Saturday were cancelled," said Hoffman. "We've got 31 games to get in this Saturday because the churches don't play on Sunday."

Hoffman feels that last year's champion, City Temple from Granite City, and Faith Community of Alton may be the tournament favorites, but those two teams will face strong opposition from the rest of the field.

"I think it is really good competition," Hoffman said. "And one thing that I should point out is that the winner advances to Montgomery, Alabama, for the national tournament (to be played during the Labor Day weekend)."

The tournament will take place at the three Granite City parks with action beginning at West Granite and Wilson Parks at 9 a.m. Worthen Park play will commence at 11 a.m. Admission is 26 cents.

The tournament's championship round will begin at 7 p.m. at the West Granite site.

SportsBriefs

Golfers begin this Monday

Golf practice for those Granite City High School students wishing to represent the Warriors during the coming fall season will begin on Monday, Aug. 19.

Golfers should meet GCHS golf coach Russ Chappell at Arlington Golf Course at 8 a.m. At that time, Chappell will establish a practice schedule.

Chappell reminds his athletes that they must have a physical examination prior to the first practice.

Park begins fall leagues

The Granite City Park District is accepting teams to play in its fall softball league. Games will be played on Saturdays and possibly Sundays, according to the number of teams registered.

Teams may be required to play at least two ball games on Saturday or Sunday.

The entry fee is $100 plus a $25 forfeit fee that will be returned at the end of the season if that team does not forfeit any game throughout the season.

The roster limit is 20, but teams must consist of at least 15 people.

There is a fee of $17.50 for any player who does not live in the Granite City Park District. Games will be played on diamonds No. 2 and 8 in Wilson Park.

Entry fee deadline is Friday, Sept.

6, at 5 p.m. League play is set to begin Sept. 21.

For more information, persons should contact John Lakin, recreation supervisor at 877-3059.

YMCA offers racquetball classes

The Tri-City Area YMCA is offering racquetball classes, leagues and competition ladders beginning Sept. 3.

Lessons for beginners and intermediate players will be held Monday and Wednesday evenings at 6 p.m. High school and junior high students will have a special after school class Monday and Wednesday at 4 p.m.

Leagues include a convenience league, which begins the week of Sept. 16, a Tuesday morning women's league, beginning Sept. 17, and ladder leagues for both men and women, starting Sept. 3. Trophies will be awarded to the first three places in each.

The YMCA will also hold monthly tournaments on the weekend of the second Friday. Trophies will be awarded each month. The YMCA also has courts available on a reservation basis.

Moonlight Ramble Aug. 25

The Moonlight Ramble, the world's largest nighttime bicycling event, will attract 13,000 to 15,000 bicycle riders for a twilight tour of St. Louis Sunday morning, Aug. 25, beginning at 2 a.m.

Sponsored by the Ozark Area Council of American Youth Hostels, the Moonlight Ramble will assemble at Memorial Plaza, 12th and Market Streets. The Moonlight Ramble is open to the general public and includes people of all ages, sizes and abilities in a leisurely ride of nine or 23 miles through St. Louis.

Tickets for the Moonlight Ramble are on sale through local bicycle shops, area Famous-Barr stores and the Ozark Area Council/American Youth Hostels located at 1808 S. 12th Street. Pre-registration is $2. Late registration tickets costing $3 will be available the evening of the ride at Memorial Plaza, Saturday, Aug. 24, 10:30 p.m. to Sunday, Aug. 25, 2 a.m.

The Moonlight Ramble was originated in 1964 by Dick Leary, a member of the Ozark Area Council/American Youth Hostels. Since that time, it has attracted bikers from all parts of the world.

The registration fee for the Moonlight Ramble defrays the cost of sponsoring such a large-scale event, as well as provides financial support for the ongoing programs of the American Youth Hostels, officials said.

The American Youth Hostels is a not-for-profit organization devoted to low-cost educational travel, fellowship and outdoor recreation for people of all ages — individuals and entire families. The Ozark Area Council/American Youth Hostels offers an extensive program of activities including bicycling, canoeing, hiking, and domestic and foreign travel.

For additional information about the 1985 Moonlight Ramble and the American Youth Hostels, interested persons may contact the American Youth Hostels office at 1-314-421-2044. Office hours are Monday/Tuesday/Thursday/Friday, noon to 5 p.m., and Wednesdays, 4 to 7 p.m.

Serving our country

News of Quad-City area servicemen serving in the various branches of the U.S. military includes:

LEWIS TARTT

Airman Lewis W. Tartt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis W. (Carol S.) Tartt, 2130 Monroe St., has graduated from the U. S. Air Force surgical service specialist course at Sheppard Air Force Base near Wichita Falls, Texas.

In the course, he was taught operating room procedures and postoperative care of patients. He also earned credits toward an associate degree through the Community College of the Air Force.

Tartt is scheduled to serve with the Air Force Hospital at Whiteman Air Force Base in Missouri. He is a 1964 graduate of Granite City High School.

JERRY KING

Army Private Jerry D. King, son of Mr. and Mrs. Julian D. (Janice K.) King, 2529 Northridge, has completed basic training at Fort Jackson, Columbia, S.C.

A 1982 graduate of Granite City High School North, King received instruction in drill and ceremonies, weapons, map reading, first aid and Army history and traditions.

FRED RUDOLPH

Cadet Fred D. Rudolph, son of Mrs. Donna Kuntz, 3108 Willow Ave., and Leon Rudolph of Cahokia, has completed a U. S. Air Force ROTC field training encampment at McClellan Air Force Base in California.

Field training, attended by cadets normally between their second and third year of college, gives an opportunity to evaluate each student's potential as an officer, according to an Air Force spokesman.

The summer's curriculum consists of orientations on jet aircraft, career opportunities, human relations education and equal opportunity training. Physical fitness and survival training also is emphasized.

The field training is four weeks, but cadets in the two-year ROTC program receive an additional two weeks of instruction in the development of air power and the contemporary Air Force.

Rudolph is a student at Iowa State University at Ames.

KENNETH WALTON

Kenneth G. Walton, U.S. Navy, has been selected as a member of the Interservice Precision Parachute Team. He is the grandson of Mrs. Ida Ramsey, 2572 Parkway Drive.

The precision parachute team consists of 25 to 30 members from the U. S. Navy, Air Force and Marine Corps, the latter making up the highest percentage of the team. There are four Navy members.

Lt. Col. Henry, who is the team's senior member and the person responsible for its existence, said the team is comprised of the best military skydivers in southern California in order to be eligible, an individual must have in excess of 100 free fall jumps.

The Interservice Precision Parachute Team performed this summer with the Blue Angels at the 35th annual El Toro Navy Relief Show. More than a half-million people viewed the event.

The group also appeared in the annual show at the Tusin Marine Helicopter Field, jumping from a large cargo helicopter and performing a series of intricate maneuvers and smoke jumps.

BERNARD HARPER

Marine Lance Cpl. Bernard Harper, son of Mrs. Rebecca Harper, 1203 Douglas St., Venice, has participated in exercise Distant Hammer while serving with the 24th Marine Amphibious Unit at Camp Lejeune, near Jacksonville, N.C.

A 1981 graduate of Madison High School, Harper joined the Marine Corps in April 1982.

The recent 11-day, multinational exercise took place in the central and eastern Mediterranean Sea and was designed to improve the operational effectiveness of maritime forces, land-based air forces and land forces.

Divided into two phases, the exercise's first phase concentrated on specific training events designated to integrate the forces of different nations, including a combined amphibious landing in Sardinia.

The tactical second phase, involving allied maritime forces and land-based air forces, tested the integrated air defense operations and sea control in the Mediterranean area, authorities said.

TRESPASSING ALLEGED

Mark A. Yehling, 17, of 2530 Buenger Blvd. was charged with trespassing at 11:45 p.m. Aug. 9 after allegedly ignoring security guards' orders to leave the parking area of Pantera's Pizza, 1535 Johnson Road. He was released on a notice to appear for a hearing.

Steamboat cruise set

The American Association of Railroaders Inc., a non-profit transportation historical organization, is sponsoring an inaugural adventure aboard the steamboat Julia Belle Swain starting at 7 a.m. Saturday, Sept. 7, when a chartered bus departs from 15th and Clark for Pere Marquette Park located on the Illinois River.

Reservations for this expedition are limited to 46 persons. The fare of $90 adult and $70 for children (under age 14) includes the bus-toat-bus transportation, all three meals and the onboard entertainment. Reservations may be obtained by sending a check to AAR, 3422 Osage St., St. Louis, Mo. 63118.

Marriage licenses issued to 4 couples

Marriage licenses issued through the office of Evelyn Bowles, Madison County clerk, Edwardsville, to Quad-City residents include:

Craig Robert Astor, Washington, Ill., and Ruth Ann Miller, Granite City.

Patrick O'Neill Dorn, Granite City, and Mary Beth Iberg, Edwardsville.

Vincent Lee Goodman and Grace Ann Zimmerman, both of Granite City.

Keith Alan Layton, Madison, and Ruth Anne Gaggus, Granite City.

Inventors fair to display new products

The Inventors Association of St. Louis will have an inventors fair on Aug. 20 at 7:30 p.m. at St. Louis County Library Headquarters, 1640 S. Lindbergh Blvd. The fair is free and open to the public.

Twelve members of the Inventors Association will present their new products and describe the creative process that led to the product. The products will range from a small household item to the latest high-technology developments. Victor Hermelin, the 1984 Inventor of the Year and a founder of the Inventors Association of St. Louis, will be one of the people demonstrating inventions. Hermelin will demonstrate his "Exerslider."

Granite City BPW to hear finance chairman

Debra Fields, finance chairman for the East St. Louis BPW organization, will speak on "Internal Revenue Service and How It Affects Women" at the Aug. 21 meeting of the Granite City Business and Professional Women's organization.

Mrs. Fields, an employee of IRS, will be introduced by Sylvia Wright, program chairman for the evening. Members and guests are being invited to the meeting, set for Charlie's Restaurant at 6:30 p.m. Reservations may be made by calling Becky Slate, president, at 452-5391 or Pauline Weir at 452-7529.

The agenda will include an orientation by Lil Marzluft on the "Purpose and Functions of the Districts" within the Illinois Federation.

Annelien Smith and Mrs. Marzluft, of the local group, attended the fall board meeting of the Illinois Federation in Bloomington and will present a resume of the discussions.

Mrs. Slate announced the 1985-86 budget will be presented and she noted an annual luncheon is set for Sept. 13 at Southern Illinois University at Carbondale. A "fun day" is scheduled for all BPW members of the Illinois Federation on Aug. 23 and 24 at the Hilton Hotel in Springfield.

Fellowship banquet set at Missionary Church

The pastor, officers and members of Mt. Nebo Missionary Baptist Church, 901 Jefferson St., Madison, Ill., are inviting the public to a church anniversary fellowship banquet Saturday, Aug. 17, at 7 p.m. at the church.

Marion E. Officer, owner and president of Officer Funeral Home, will be the guest master-of-ceremonies.

Miss Yvette Payne, job placement recruiter for Murray State University, Murray, Ky., will be guest speaker.

Sister Ivory Williams is chairman of the event and Luella Gardner is co-chairman. The Rev. Jerome Jackson is pastor.

GCHS orientation, registration planned

GRANITE CITY — Orientation for 1985-86 at Granite City High School is set for Tuesday, Aug. 20, it was announced today.

And on Aug. 19 and 21, registration for new students and students wishing to re-enroll for the fall semester will be conducted at the high school between 7:30 a.m. and 3:30 p.m. To enroll, each student must bring his or her parent or legal guardian with him.

The Aug. 20 orientation is for all freshmen and transfer students. The program will run from 9 to 11 a.m. Buses will run their regular routes starting at 8 a.m. for students who are entitled to free bus transportation.

The students are to bring copies of their schedules so they can "walk through" their daily schedule. Parents of all in-district students are being advised that ninth grade physical examination forms must be completely filled out, including completed and up-to-date immunization record, and turned in before the first day of school.

No ninth grade student may attend school until the completed physical and immunization record has been presented to school. For a student entering a Granite City school from another school district, he or she has 30 days from the date of enrollment to see that required health records are transferred from the previous school.

If the previous school did not require that a physical examination and complete immunization record be on file for kindergarten, fifth and ninth grade students, then that student must have a new physical exam and immunization record presented to school within 30 days of enrollment, regardless of grade. These requirements must be met within 30 days of enrollment or the student will be excluded from school, a spokesman said.

All out-of-state transfer students must have a recent physical examination.

Those in the top three years at GCHS have been sent their tentative schedules for the fall semester of the 1985-86 school year.

Classes have not yet been "balanced," so there is some chance that the schedule may vary slightly when finalized. However, the courses being taken will not change.

Students are being asked to review the schedule and, if there is a conflict, go to the school and see Assistant Principal Victor Buehler to arrange for corrections. GCHS will not make changes after school has started on Aug. 27.

Principal G.V. Wainsley is telling students, "If you need your schedule changed, you are to report to Mr. Buehler on the date indicated. No changes will be made by telephone."

"If it is impossible to report for this on the date assigned, please call 877-1512 and ask for Mrs. Smolar, who will try to arrange an appointment at a more convenient time after Aug. 22."

On Tuesday, Aug. 20, seniors with last names beginning with A to L will report for schedule changes from 12:30 to 2 p.m. and seniors with M-Z last names will report from 2 to 3:30 p.m.

Juniors will make schedule changes Wednesday, Aug. 21, A-L names from 9 to 11 a.m. and M-Z names from 1 to 3 p.m.

On Thursday, Aug. 22, sophomores will report for schedule changes, last names A-L from 9 to 11 a.m. and M-Z from 1 to 3 p.m.

FELONY PROPERTY DAMAGE CHARGE FILED IN PONTON

Bruce E. Dukes, 23, of 4024 Oakmont Drive, Pontoon Beach, was charged with a felony count of criminal damage to property and with battery after he allegedly beat up a man and then damaged the man's car.

Jeffrey Sharp of Troy signed a battery complaint against Dukes. Pontoon Beach police said Sharp's car had been badly damaged by a tire tool, including damage to the doors and a broken windshield and window. Dukes was arrested Aug. 13 in the rear of the 4300 block of Highway 162.

ARREST FOR DUI, SPEEDING

After an auto passed a police car at 8:25 p.m. Aug. 9 in the 3000 block of Madison Avenue, the officer followed and alleged Carolyn T. Walsh, 2400 State St., was driving about 50 mph. She was charged with driving while under the influence of alcohol and speeding.

Much of jobless pay debt retired

The state has made the final payment on the interest-bearing portion of its unemployment insurance debt one year ahead of schedule.

"With this $112 million, we have repaid every penny of the interest-bearing part of the UI debt," Gov. James R. Thompson said. "This is good news for Illinois and another indication of the recovering strength of the state's economy."

"Early repayment of the debt was made possible by the aggressive solvency effort launched in the spring of 1983 and by continuing improvements in the state's economy and employment."

"Increasing numbers of Illinoisans no longer need benefits from the state because the job market has continued to create opportunities for them. At the same time, the state is receiving more taxes as these people join the work force," he said.

The debts were incurred after April 1, 1982, when all new loans to state UI programs were made interest-bearing. They peaked at $1.085 billion in March 1984.

In developing the solvency legislation, the state created a historic cooperative relationship with Illinois business and labor leaders.

Business and labor are committed to a continuation of this cooperative effort and are working with the General Assembly to rewrite the state's unemployment insurance law. Goals are to ensure that the Illinois UI system is financially sound, that benefits are adequate, and that the competitive business climate in Illinois improves.

In addition to repayment of interest-bearing debt, Illinois employers have been subject to federal UI taxes. The revenue from these taxes is used to repay the oldest loans, which were incurred beginning in 1975.

This non-interest-bearing debt reached $1.7 billion in February 1982 and may be repaid as early as 1988. As of the end of June 1985, Illinois had repaid $500 million of the old debt.

An accelerated schedule of payments will allow the increased federal UI tax penalties that employers currently pay to drop more quickly.

SERVICE PROJECT of Steven Smith, 13, focused on improvement of the Old Six Mile Museum, Marysville Road near Emert Avenue, as part of his Eagle rank qualification. Son of George and Carolyn Smith, the Coolidge Junior High eighth grader is a member of Long Lake Fire Department Boy Scout Troop 46. He supervised Scouts Billy Ellis, Steve Fourcouth, Mark Hinson, James Holmes, Jeremy Weaver and Allen Williams in scraping old paint and repainting the museum's garage, smokehouse and fence. He is shown in front of the museum and during the fence project; a total of 143 scout-hours was devoted to the tasks and paint was provided by Lombardi Interiors. The local museum continues to be open Wednesdays and Sundays from 1 to 4 p.m.

Hunting safety course scheduled

The Granite City Park District will begin registration for a hunters' safety course on Monday, Aug. 19, at the Wilson Park office.

No hunting license may be issued to anyone under 16 years of age unless he presents the license seller with evidence that he held a hunting license issued by Illinois or another state in a prior year, or has a certificate of competence.

The Park District will offer a course in wildlife management, firearm safety, first aid, hunting ethics and survival techniques. This course, for fathers and sons, will be held at the Harold Brown Recreation Center Sept. 24-27 from 6:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m.

Each session must be attended to qualify for a completed course. Those passing the course will be awarded a certificate. For information, the number at the park office is 877-3059.

New series on cooking for heart health

St. Elizabeth Medical Center is again offering "Cooking a la Heart," a cooking course to "help you eat your way to good health and reduce your risk of heart disease."

In the classes, a registered dietitian will show how to prepare meals that are low in fat, cholesterol and calories. Students will also learn how to plan satisfying meatless meals, how to read labels correctly, and how to enhance flavor without using salt.

Each class will include cooking demonstrations and there will be an opportunity to taste samples of different recipes.

Cooking a la Heart classes will be held on Wednesday evenings, Sept. 4 through Sept. 25, from 6:30 to 8:30 in the 3-Doctors Solarium.

Fees for the classes are $25 per person or $35 per couple. For more information or to register for the classes, the phone number is 798-3492.

Bridge use still rising

By VALERIE EVENEDEN
Staff writer

Traffic flow across the McKinley Bridge in Venice took an upswing again in June, with an increase of 1,802 vehicles each day compared to daily records in June 1984. A total of 523,555 vehicles used the local Mississippi River span in June, Bridge Manager Tom Fields informed the Venice City Council at last week's meeting. The toll bridge is owned by the city.

Repair work still continues to create backups on Interstate 270 near the Chain of Rocks Canal bridge, and this may be responsible for redirecting some of the commuter traffic this summer.

On another topic, Venice Mayor Tyrone Echols informed aldermen the regional office of the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency reported receiving complaints from a resident in the 600 block of Broadway on "excessively loud banging noises created by trucks hitting potholes in the street."

"I did reply to EPA's letter. I also went to look at the area and I didn't find any potholes in the street. But I did find a hump," the mayor said. (A state crew scraped off the "hump" Friday morning as well as placing patches on the Broadway viaduct.)

"I also asked (EPA) if someone had come down here to investigate it, because I doubt if it (the street condition) would cause a noise beyond the decibel limit."

"We fill potholes all the time and Broadway is on the state's list for future repairs," he added.

Major Hearn Jr., EPA regional coordinator, said, "The complaint feels an effective and permanent solution to this problem is the repaving of the street."

"While Illinois has regulations governing the amount of noise that can be emitted to residential property, we see no need to apply those regulations to this situation. Instead, we encourage you to look into this problem and attempt to resolve it."

"I don't mind the complaint, but I think they (EPA) should have had the decency to come down here to inspect it," Echols said.

Third Ward Alderman John Ervin reported "Venice Red Devils" state basketball championship signs have been erected at entrance points to the city. The signs commemorate the 1975 statewide victory achieved by Venice High School athletes.

Also in the meeting, a building permit was approved for the Rev. Lucius Lawrence, who is planning to install a concrete pad on which to place a mobile home at 1218 Calhoun St.

The retired minister recently moved here from Michigan. He was reminded that all mobile homes must be skirted and tied down and an occupancy permit must be obtained prior to residency.

Approval was granted on a request from American Association of Retired Persons Chapter 2865 to charter a 40-passenger bus at city expense for a late-August trip to Our Lady of the Snow Shrine, and to start preparations for a Christmas party involving 80 persons.

GEORGE TELLOR HONORED. The retired assistant Granite City police chief, shown with his wife, Dorothy, has been presented a plaque for longtime service as a board member of Mental Health Services, Southern Madison County, including membership on the executive and property committees and the Board of Crisis Services of Madison County. A police officer 35 years, he enjoys camping and he and his wife recently returned from trips to Holland, Mich., and Nashville, Tenn. They have four children, Ronald Tellor of Kirkwood, Mrs. Phillip (Donna Faye) Theis of Granite City, Mrs. Tom (Lynda) Teague of New York and Miss Sherri Tellor of Edwardsville.

Traffic deaths up in county, state

Through July, Madison County had 27 traffic deaths for 1985, compared to 26 in the first seven months of 1984. The July toll was 8, compared to 6 in the same month a year ago.

Illinois traffic fatalities increased 13.7 percent in July, according to the Illinois Department of Transportation and Illinois State Police.

In July there were 149 fatalities recorded as a result of 136 accidents, compared to 131 in July 1984 and an increase of 5.7 percent from the 141 in July 1983.

The state total of 840 fatalities for the seven months of 1985 is up 6.1 percent from the 792 deaths for the same period of 1984, and an increase of 0.6 percent over the 835 deaths in 1983.

In July, 26 pedestrians were killed in 26 accidents, 31 persons died in 29 accidents involving motorcycles (compared to 17 motorcycle deaths in July 1984), 6 bicyclists were killed in 6 accidents, and 1 person died in a railroad crossing accident.

Fresh start offered to smokers this fall

The "Fresh Start" stop-smoking program will be offered beginning Sept. 9 at St. Elizabeth Medical Center. There will be four classes, one each week through Sept. 30. Classes will be held from 6:45 to 9 p.m.

The "Fresh Start" program was developed by the American Cancer Society. Topics covered include why people smoke, how the habit is reinforced, how to manage the first few days without cigarettes, how to master obstacles and what physical changes to expect after quitting.

The classes will be taught by a registered nurse and a certified respiratory therapist from St. Elizabeth's staff.

"Fresh Start" classes will be limited to 15 people. There is a $15 fee for each participant. Classes will be held in the 6-Doctors classroom, and refreshments will be served at all sessions.

To register for the classes, the number to call is 798-3167.

MAN STRUCK AND KICKED

Ken Stagg, 2122 Adams St., told police Aug. 12 he was at an apartment in the 2100 block of Benton Street when a fight broke out. Stagg said he was hit in the head with a club-type weapon and, when he fell down, was repeatedly kicked. Bleeding from the scalp, with swelling around the nose and left side of his face, Stagg was taken to St. Elizabeth Medical Center for treatment.

County panel rejects insurance premium

By TERRY HILLIG

A Madison County Board committee Thursday unanimously refused to pay a $218,618 premium for public liability insurance for claims against the county arising from occurrences during the two years ended July 22.

Governmental Interinsurance Exchange (GIE) of Bloomington, which recently refused to renew a $1 million liability policy for the county beyond July 22, offered the "tail" policy to the county.

A "tail" policy covers injuries which have already occurred but have not yet resulted in a claim.

THE PREVIOUS GIE policy provided coverage of claims, not occurrences, so without the additional policy, the county would not be protected against new claims stemming from events during the policy period.

But members of the board's Central Services Committee decided the bill was too high for the protection offered. The county board earlier gave the committee power to act regarding the county's insurance coverage.

The county's insurance broker, Ed Sasek, told the committee other claims during the policy period have used up at least $100,000 of the $1 million coverage of the policy, leaving about $900,000 in protection.

Committee member William R. Haine, D-Alton, a lawyer, called the panel's attention to a statute which requires notice within one year of an occurrence if it is to be the basis for a liability action.

BECAUSE OF THE LAW, the county is potentially liable for events during a period of less than a year, and the period is reduced each day, Haine said.

Haine acknowledged that the notice provisions are different for some actions, such as civil rights complaints, brought under federal law.

Rita Keene, the county's safety and insurance director, said she knows of no as-yet-undated claims for the period, but agreed with committee members that such claims could be brought unexpectedly.

"I think the probability of claims losses does not justify the premium that's asked," said committee Chairman Don McLean, D-Edwardsville.

Committee member Harold Ryer, D-Highland, agreed and made the motion to forgo the coverage.

SASEK TOLD the committee he is continuing efforts to obtain "layers" of coverage needed to supplement a combined liability and property insurance policy obtained from Lloyd's of London after GIE refused insurance to the county.

The county had paid GIE a premium of $270,000 for the canceled liability policy. The Lloyd's policy premium is $140,000 but provides less coverage.

There is a $50,000-per-claim deductible until the county pays a total deductible of $325,000 during a one year period.

After satisfaction of the deductible, the company is responsible for a maximum of $250,000 for liability claims and a maximum of $500,000 for each property damage claim.

Cook MasterCard travelers checks being issued here

Illini Federal and First Granite City Savings are now offering customers the new Thomas Cook MasterCard Travelers Check, which is accepted in every country in the world and is refundable at more than 100,000 locations.

The world's second largest travelers check company, Cook has joined forces with MasterCard to offer a tamper-proof check which is replaceable if lost or stolen.

John Taylor, vice president of sales and marketing at Thomas Cookline, Princeton, N.J., said, "Up to $500 in emergency funds can be made available immediately to replace lost or stolen checks, with the balance usually obtainable within 24 hours."

"Travelers in the U.S., Canada, Mexico and the Caribbean call a 24-hour toll-free telephone number to ensure prompt replacement of missing checks, while the correspondent network of Cook and MasterCard affiliates provides equally problem-free service around the globe."

In addition to U.S. dollar travelers checks, Cook also supplies foreign currency travelers checks in British pound sterling, French and Swiss francs, the Deutsche mark, Dutch guilder, Japanese yen and Australian, Hong Kong and Canadian dollars.

Special inks are used that will blur or disappear if there is an attempt to alter or erase the holder's signature.

The check must be countersigned on a line above the original signature so that a forger's hand will cover the signature he is trying to copy.

The world's first travel money, called circular notes, was issued by Thomas Cook in New York City in 1874.

SIUE computer workshop stimulates music teachers

LOOKS INTERESTING... AND IT WORKS. Keith McElwroth of Florissant, Mo., who teaches music in Alton, and Jane Kozielek of Granite City, who teaches in Jennings, Mo., work with Alpha Plus, a program for creating and modifying musical sounds. They took part in a recent computer workshop on the Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville campus. (Photo by SIUE)

It could be some new kind of assembly line. Eleven persons — seven men, four women — sit at long tables in two rows, confronting an Apple IIe computer, and an AlphaSyntauri keyboard. A workshop at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville is in full swing.

The swing, however, is musical. All have headphones just waiting for use by learning musicians, during a session of the SIUE Computer and Music Workshop directed by professor Warren Joseph for the Summer Arts '85 Festival program. The participants are elementary and secondary music teachers — from Illinois, Missouri and Arkansas. All are enrolled to learn more about computers and their application to music education, so they can take back to their students state-of-the-art approaches to teaching band, chorus, theory and general music.

A sound comes from the corner of the room; it is the sound of the future. A computer printer clicks out the text of an original composition by Charles Clark, one of the workshopers. The sixth through eighth grade band director relates to the printer as something readily adaptable to his work in the St. Louis Public School System. "It can really save time in revising and arrangements," he points out.

Computer and music programs in the classroom have barely begun to realize their potential. If interest in Professor Joseph's program is any indication, the future is bright, indeed.

According to Joseph, the SIUE program is the only one in the country offering a complete computerized learning system. "Some universities in Tennessee, Canada, Pennsylvania and Texas are using computers," he observes; "but none are combining them with keyboards. SIUE has both — and ours are networked so that we all have a complete system to work with on either an individual or a group basis."

SIUE President Earl Lazerson, Joseph says, gets credit for the presence of the equipment on campus. Lazerson shows an acute awareness of the role of computers in education for the future, Joseph explained. When the music professor proposed a computer and music program in 1983, it was the first of its kind in the country.

Since then, Joseph has written a general instruction textbook in music theory for computer education, as well as five software modules on melody, harmony, rhythm, texture and form. Working in such a brand new field, Joseph occasionally gets calls from software makers, requesting input and feedback on their new offerings.

The comments of the teachers enrolled in the workshop confirm the optimistic assessment of what can be accomplished in the future. Even on such a basic level as general music and beginning band and chorus, observes Mark Robinson of his school can be employed for more effective uses.

Kim Lanius, a teacher from Cahokia, is looking for "an overview of possible programs to begin a computer curriculum for general music and band students."

The ambition of Jane Kozielek, from Granite City, is more fundamental at the outset.

"I was just looking for knowledge of how computers can be applied to music," she said.

By the end of the first week, however, Kozielek, who teaches at two elementary schools in St. Louis, was manipulating her computer and referring to software programs like a seasoned veteran.

"I've seen the application for both music and art graphics," she exclaims. "There is a wide range of things you can accomplish even without the keyboards."

Kozielek, hardly a novice with her 18 years of experience, was impressed with the opportunities for creativity that had occurred to her during the week.

"Computers can reach the poorest learner and challenge the brightest."

Financial aid available for 1985-86 school year

Financial aid is available for students who need assistance for the 1985-86 school year, according to financial-aid experts at Belleville Area College. Rumors of financial-aid cutbacks aren't true. In fact, funding for several programs has increased.

BAC Director of Financial Aid Pat Talley said:

"The rumor of financial-aid cuts has scared off people from applying. There are many financial-aid opportunities available for the 1985-86 school year. There are plentiful scholarships, grants and work-study monies still available.

There has been an increase in College Work Study and PELL Grant funds, she said.

For the 1985-86 school year, there is a 20 percent increase in College Work Study funds and PELL Grant funding has been increased to include up to 60 percent of a student's educational expenses.

Aid is available in three forms, including grants and scholarships, loans, and the work program, Talley said.

Grants and scholarships are based on financial need or scholastic merit. They do not have to be repaid. Loans are obtained from lending institutions. They have to be repaid, usually with payments starting six months after graduation or discontinuance of school.

"The work program is a means of earning while you're learning," Talley said. "Students use dollars earned to pay for college expenses. It is one of the primary financial-aid programs sponsored by the federal government."

Application deadlines vary for each type of aid, Talley said. Students should apply as soon as possible.

For information, students may call BAC's Financial Aid Office, 1-235-2700, ext. 288.

SIUE sets senior citizens program

The Gerontology Program at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will offer a series of free education and cultural enrichment programs for older people again during the upcoming academic year.

The programs, "Dialogue For Senior Citizens," are scheduled on Wednesdays from 1:30 until 4:30 p.m. in the conference area of the University Center.

Lectures and slide presentations have centered on topics of special interest to senior citizens.

Recent programs have included presentations on travel and the history of nails and lectures on such subjects as changing weather patterns, self-management, combating loneliness and depression, understanding the process of motivation, alcoholism and drugs, mind and body, conflicts on the use of natural resources, firefighting, crime and the elderly, heroes of the Old Testament, and television's place in society.

Additional information may be obtained by contacting Anthony Traxler or Robert Hawkins in the SIUE Gerontology Program Office at 1-692-3454.

BAC slates variety of fall night classes

Belleville Area College's art department is offering a variety of courses for night students this fall.

The courses, which are especially good for beginners and non-art majors, include classes in drawing, design, painting, ceramics, photography, art history and appreciation and art education.

Students will not only learn art theory, but will receive a great deal of "hands-on" experience in BAC's studios.

temper with the young people working for her.

"I didn't take the time to reason it out and make sure they understood my directions," she said. "I also wouldn't make my instructions clear."

"Now I can talk to people so they can understand me," she said. "I do it in a calm and effective way."

"The seminar helped me handle my own life better," Davis said. "You find out you have much potential than you think you have. You find out who you are. You learn how to help yourself."

There is a $26 fee for the course. For information and to register, students may call BAC's Counseling Center, 1-235-2700, ext. 360.

"They learn rational coping skills and ways to deal with day-to-day problems," she said.

"They also learn to communicate more effectively," she said. "They learn listening and communication skills. They learn how to build a better self image."

Ann Davis of Edwardsville took the seminar last fall. She experienced an almost complete turn around after the seminar, she said.

"I would be angry and ineffective," Davis said. "Now I'm assertive and very effective."

"I manage a business," she said. "We raise horses. If we are not careful, we can cost a client a lot of money."

She said she would lose her

Course helps students learn potential

A Human Potential Seminar, a seven-week course, will be offered from 6 to 8:30 p.m. Tuesdays at Belleville Area College this fall. The seminar, sponsored by BAC's Counseling Center, will meet from Tuesday, Aug. 27 through Tuesday, Oct. 8, in the Cafeteria Grand Room at BAC's Belleville Campus.

Pat Brian, director of Special Services in BAC's Counseling Center, said the course helps people better understand themselves. They learn to understand their value systems.

"People learn to set realistic short-term and long-range goals," Brian said. "They identify the positive things they have going for them and how to best market themselves."

Air Force ROTC scholarships offered

The Air Force Reserve Officer Training Corps at SIUE has 40 Illinois State ROTC scholarships for full-time students enrolled in the Air Force ROTC program.

These scholarships cover tuition and certain fees and are valid for up to four years. Additionally, Belleville Area College can activate 3 of these scholarships annually for students transferring to SIUE.

Students competing for the scholarships must have completed either the ACT, the SAT, or agree to take the Air Force Officer Qualification Test (AFQOT).

Applicants also must:

- Be no older than 30 years old at graduation.

- Be an Illinois resident;
- Have a cumulative GPA of at least 3.0 on a 5.0 scale;

- Have at least two years of school remaining (or be willing to extend school to complete at least two years in AFQOT); and

- Demonstrate leadership ability. There are no restrictions as to academic major. Qualified engineering students are virtually assured of receiving a scholarship.

There is no obligation incurred through the state scholarships. However, students who enroll in the last two years of AFQOT incur a service obligation with the Air Force. Graduates are commissioned as Second Lieutenants and serve a minimum of 4 years on active duty.

Federally sponsored AFQOT scholarships are also available. These scholarships pay for all tuition, fees and books, plus provide $100 each month of the school year. Students complete nationwide for the federal scholarships. Awards are based on G.P.A., ACT/SAT/AFQOT scores, and declared major.

For more details, those interested may see or call Captain Paul Schmidt at AFQOT Detachment 206, Building III, Room 3340, Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, 1-692-3180.

September Option offers opportunities

In 1984, 400 students filled the classrooms during the first run of the special "September Option" offering by Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

This year, the final registration period for "September Option" will be the week previous to the beginning of classes, running from Monday, Aug. 19, through Friday, Aug. 23, with another special registration day set aside for "September Option" students only Monday, Aug. 26. "September Option" is a one-month intensive learning opportunity, which enables certain students to get an earlier start on the fall quarter. Using a concentrated instructional format from 8:30 a.m. to 10:20 a.m. each day of the week, it offers a special advantage to beginning freshmen.

"Preparatory courses in writing, math, reading and study techniques should appeal to those who want to master fundamental skills as they begin university work," Vice-President and Provost Barbara J. Teters observes.

"Other courses," she adds, "such as English composition, critical thinking, biology, speech communication and mathematics can give beginning students a virtually start on the academic year and a college career."

In addition to the classes designed with entering freshmen in mind, general education courses will enable some students to complete a requirement prior to the traditional beginning date for the fall quarter. A special brochure is available, and specific information will also be provided to those calling "September Option" at 1-692-3772, ext. 3772.

THOMAS BUENTE of 2119 Cleveland Blvd., is studying abroad this fall as part of Illinois State University's Normal Semester in England Program. Buente will receive 12 hours of undergraduate credit while attending regular classes at Brighton Polytechnic. Faculty of the university will teach courses in social sciences, history and literature.

Benefits of the ISU Semester in England program include the use of cultural resources in London and travel to places of interest in England, Scotland and Wales.

GAIL VOEGELER of Granite City has completed her Master of Arts degree in Computer Applications at Clarke College, Dubuque, Ia. Voegeler is the daughter of George and Delores Voegeler. She is currently employed with Bourbonnais School District 83, as a computer lab director.

DAVE LONG, son of Ralph and Marie Long of Granite City, has been selected as the 1985-86 resident director of Wilson Residence Hall at McKendree College, Lebanon. Long is responsible for the development and administration of a residence hall program which promotes an academic and social environment consistent with the general purposes and goals of the college.

Belleville Area College

BELLEVILLE AREA COLLEGE and the Federal Aviation Administration are co-sponsoring an aviation safety seminar in September. The seminar will include speakers from BAC, the FAA, Ozark Air Lines and Scott Air Force Base. Topics to be discussed will include the Pilot Proficiency Award System, meteorology, air-traffic control, radar and weather and weather avoidance.

The seminar will be from 6:30 to 10 p.m. Monday, Sept. 16, in the theater at the Belleville campus, 2500 Carlyle Road. The seminar is open to the general public. For more information, interested persons may call 1-235-2700, ext. 352.

BELLEVILLE AREA COLLEGE STUDENTS transferring to Illinois State University, Normal, continue to do so. This spring, 40 BAC transfer students had an average grade point average of 2.75 on a 4.0 scale. The average for all two-year transfer students was 2.67 and for four year students was 2.68.

PLANNED REGIONAL PLANT. The Granite City Wastewater Treatment Plant has been designated as the regional treatment plant, which will increase its use from 35 to 85 percent of capacity when the regional system is completed. Located on the Granite City Army Installation, the plant is designed to handle 23 million gallons of wastewater per day and 200 million gallons of stormwater daily. The regional system, which includes the linking of the Metro-East Sanitary District's Lansdowne plant to the Granite City plant, is expected to be completed in two years.

Skoklo now patrolman; plant may expand size

By DONNA KIMBRO
Staff writer

Steven Skoklo, a Madison probationary police officer, completed a year of service on Aug. 5 and was upgraded to the rank of patrolman by the Madison City Council Tuesday night.

A police department report listed the city as receiving $3,391 from Circuit Clerk Willard Portell on fines collected during July.

Police Chief William C. Papa said there were 181 adult charges filed in July, with 25 adults arrested and no juvenile arrests recorded. There were 140 traffic violations.

MAYOR JOHN BELLCOFF announced he is to meet with Preston Green of Southwest Steel Co., which owns the remaining vacant land in the city's Stephen Maeras Industrial Park.

Bellcoff hopes to secure this parcel for the Lanter Co., manufacturers of medical products.

Lanter officials have requested more land immediately to expand their business. If it is not available in the industrial park area, Lanter will seek another location, the mayor said.

Bills amounting to $35,099 were approved for payment.

SUPERINTENDENT of Streets

Robbie Robbins informed the council the State Street improvement project is on schedule. Resurfacing will begin in the first week of September from 3rd to 14th streets.

Robbins said he has a crew replacing or patching sidewalks in the city, and another crew assigned to streets where asphalt has raised due to the heat.

He reminded aldermen that the summer youth program will end with the school opening, but the street department will continue to use four or five youths to work until the end of September.

ALDERMAN DON GARRETT informed the council the Urban League contacted him on behalf of an elderly woman living in the 700 block of Jefferson Street. She needs the services of an exterminating company but is unable to pay the cost.

Mayor Bellcoff asked Vasil Graville, interim city inspector, to talk with the woman this week to see if the problem can be solved.

South Western Cable TV Co. notified council members the company has been having difficulty in collecting bills on time and will now charge a $10 late fee on customer bills not paid by the due date. If the service is discontinued, there will be an additional $15 installation fee before the service can be reinstated. Garrett said he was not notified of a finance committee meeting that took place before the council meeting.

"I HAVE WORKED hard to become a member of that committee and if I am not notified, this is open to charges of manipulation and racism. Any committee meeting should not be conducted unless all members are notified," Garrett said.

The mayor explained later that a newly-elected alderman, Don Wilson, is chairman of the committee and was not aware that every committee member should be notified of a meeting.

"Although I was not at the meeting, I understand this particular session was set up to discuss tentative pay increases for the police department. Later, they will discuss salary increases for the street department if there are monies available for both," the mayor said.

AFTER THE MEETING, Alderman William Gushleff said he is still in favor of property annexations by the city because this might enable municipal utility taxes to be "cut in half or eliminated altogether. "I want to go on record as supporting annexation, as this is connected with the tax cut. The present administration does not seem to be pushing this program," Gushleff said.

Amvets Post 51 adds 5 members

At a meeting of Amvets Post 51, 5100 Lakeview Drive, Commander Clay Varner announced five new members have joined the post. He also reported on the state convention, where Post 51 received a 100 percent membership award. Phillip L. Manning was named member of the year for the second time and Floyd Tucker was chosen as auxiliary member of the year.

It was announced Joseph White was elected state vice commander. He will be the commander of Divisions 3, 4 and 5. Visiting the post was the 5th Division senior vice commander, Danny Von Dracek.

New honor for Terrell

Bill Terrell, area manager for the Franklin Life Insurance Co. of Springfield, Ill., has been named to membership in the 1985 Franklin Million Dollar Conference, the company's elite organization of national sales and sales management leaders. His accomplishments will be recognized at the company's 1985 convention in October at the Hamilton Princess Hotel in Bermuda.

Huether to lead cystic fibrosis bowling event

Jack Buck, voice of the St. Louis baseball Cardinals and chairman of the Gateway Chapter of the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation, today named Brent Huether chairman of the CF 1985 Bowl-A-Thon in Granite City. It will be held this fall at Bowland to raise funds to support research and care for children affected by cystic fibrosis.

CF is a fatal lung and digestive disease that affects one in every 1,600 babies born in the U.S. In order for a child to have cystic fibrosis, both parents must carry the recessive CF gene. At present, one in 20 Americans is an unknowing, symptom-free carrier of this gene. With continued research, a test may be discovered to determine who are carriers.

Due to research and improved therapy, Buck said, 50 percent of CF patients are living to their 18th birthday and beyond.

STORE WINDOW BROKEN

Ki Jun Han of the Arrang Store, 2501 Iowa St., told police Aug. 12 someone threw a rock through a 6x5-foot plate glass window at the front of the store.

HURT AS CAR HITS POST

Diane E. Boelter, 22, of 2428 Hemlock Ave. was injured Aug. 11 when her car ran into an Illinois Power Co. pole at 1515 Johnson Road. She said she accidentally dropped a soda and, while she was attempting to retrieve it, her car veered off the road and hit the post. She declined immediate medical treatment.

Infant CPR Aug. 19

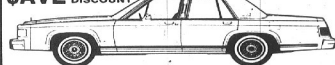

An infant CPR (cardiopulmonary resuscitation) class is set for 7-9 p.m. Monday, Aug. 19 at McKinley School in the St. Elizabeth Medical Center complex. The free class will be taught by two Red Cross certified instructors, Pat Schrader, R.N., and Ketra Johnson, R.N.

Auditions for St. Louis Symphony chorus positions in all voice categories will be held Wednesday, Sept. 4. Now in its ninth season, the chorus is the recipient of four Grammy Award nominations for its recordings with the Symphony.
 Experienced singers with a basic understanding of vocal technique and a knowledge of sight-reading are being urged to schedule an audition. Interested persons should prepare two pieces, memorized and no longer than three minutes.

Auditions can be arranged by contacting St. Louis Symphony Chorus Manager Jude Schlitt at Powell Symphony Hall, 718 N. Grand Blvd., St. Louis, Mo. 63103 (1-314-535-2500).
 The Symphony Chorus, founded by director Thomas Peck, performs several concerts each season with the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra in Powell Hall. Highlights of this season include Berlioz' "Roméo and Juliet," Puccini's "Tosca," Beethoven's Symphony No. 9 and Handel's Messiah.
